Committee Approves 'Flat' Amendment But Future Holds Numerous Problems

"What does this amendment do?" asked Township Committee member David Blair last Wednesday night, as Committee began consideration of an amendment to the ordinance that allows construction of a small apartment - or "flat" - within a house.

"It defines 'owner' as 'resident', or someone who is going to be a resident in the house, and that eliminates developers," replied municipal attorney Gordon Griffin. "It doesn't change the fact that the ordinance applies to both old and newly-built houses."

The flat amendment was passed 4-1, with Committee member Kate Litvack voting "no." Public hearing will be Wednesday, January 18.

Before that, however, the new measure will be discussed at a special work session of the Planning Board to be held next Monday at 8 p.m. in Room 208, Valley Road Building. The board will review Committee's amendment. Committee cannot take final action until it has received whatever comment - pro or con - the Planning Board makes.

A Many-Sided Problem. Mayor Josie Hall emphasized on Wednesday that Committee was not considering the merits of any application. Committee is in a "peculiar position," she observed.

"The Planning Board did like the Collins application," (a proposal to construct 26 new houses on Constitution Hill, containing flats), Mayor Hall continued, "but then, the board approved our original flat amendment! Constitution Hill would be nice for Princeton. But four Planning Board members - Hutter, Broadwater, Gottlieb and Rose - felt that a broad interpretation of the flat ordinance could have serious implications.

"If ALL new construction can have flats, you'd be playing with the density figures," she commented. "The Planning Board must be allowed to say WHERE flats can be incorporated into new construction. Probably it will be done, but it's hard to grant one application, then close the door."

"Why" queried Mrs. Litvack later, before her "no" vote, "did the Planning Board say it liked Constitution Hill, then ask us to pass this amendment?"

"We're attempting to decide policy on the basis of one application," Mr. Blair observed, "We'd better get hopping on our planning."

He said later he feared that expiration of the sewer moratorium would find the town without a Master Plan. "I'm afraid we'll be doing substitute planning because it didn't occur during a heaven-sent opportunity."

"This gives notice to the Planning Board," Mayor Hall declared, "crystallize your ideas and get them to us for ordinances."

More to Come. She reminded Committee that "two other applications are right on the heels of this one."

She was apparently referring to the long-standing request of Gibbs and Hill to construct some 600 units in the northern part of the Township and to the

Petition Asking Completion of Loop Road May Precipitate Battle of Neighborhoods

"Are we going to continue the Loop Road concept?" asked Township Mayor Josie Hall last Wednesday, as Committee stared at the 33 signatures on a petition asking for completion of the Loop, and faced the possibility of fighting anew an ancient battle.

The 33 signatures are from people who live on Overbrook and Shadybrook. They say they have "borne the brunt of traffic flow for many years. We feel we are entitled to the relief which completion of Terhune would afford."

On the 1977 Township capital budget, completion of the Loop is pencilled in for 1981, subject to revision pending completion of a Circulation Master Plan. The new petition was sent on to the Planning Board by Committee, with the request that it be turned over to the Circulation Sub-committee.

"The end of the oil supply may overtake us before completion of the Circulation Master Plan," was the gloomy prediction of Committee member David Blair.

The circulation committee meets on call, according to one of its members. It consists of Mayor Hall, Karl Light and Harry Sayen for the Township; William H. Walker, Martin P. Lombardo, Douglas Kelbaugh and Margen Penick for the Borough.

Opposition Refuted. The petition goes on to remind Committee of the near-violent opposition of Bertrand Drive and Dodds Lane residents to the Loop Road.

"We find it hard to take seriously (their) objections. Terhune Road goes past their back yards, most of which are deep lots, placing the house a good distance from the road. Our front setbacks are nowhere near as great."

Although the petition doesn't mention speeding, that's the first thing residents of Overbrook or Shadybrook talk about. They suspect that cars from farther up Route 27 - Kendall Park, perhaps - use Overbrook as a short-cut to the Shopping Center.

"Overbrook doesn't come from or go anywhere, yet it is over-used," said Mrs. R.J. Howland, 28 Overbrook, "It was built before Dodds Lane with the understanding that the Loop would go through, so it is a narrow street."

The Gulick Viewpoint. George Taylor, 305 Dodds, says his chief objection is that because Mrs. Bertrand Gulick does not want to sell any of her farm for the Loop, Dodds Lane itself would become the "de facto" Loop Road, with truck traffic as well as passenger cars.

"I am very adverse to the Loop," Mrs. Gulick repeated this week, learning of the Overbrook petition. "It would cut my farm in half and land-lock a lot of the property. It would mean a main artery like Route 27 in the back yard of Dodds Lane residents."

Much of the area is the original Gulick farm, subdivided by Mrs. Gulick's late husband.

Mrs. Howland, mother of a seven-year-old, says speeding is her chief worry, especially during after-school hours. There are no sidewalks on Overbrook, she points out, and children walk home from Littlebrook School in the roadway.

A former resident of Overbrook succeeded in obtaining a reduction of the speed limit to its present 25 m.p.h., but residents living on the street now say that the limit is not enforced.

'Flat' Amendment

subdivision plan of Nassau Capital Associates for 37 building lots on 93 acres at Stuart Road and Cherry Hill.

Thomas C. Jamieson, attorney for Collins, said the firm probably wouldn't be interested in developing Constitution Hill if the amendment went into effect. Replying to a question from Mr. Blair, he said yes, Collins could probably "pre-sell" a house, then apply in the name of the owner for permission to build a flat, "but we don't want to play games."

He then made a proposal of his own and for a time it looked as though Committee might introduce two ordinances. Why not, suggested Mr. Jamieson, limit to five the number of bedrooms in flat and owner's living quarters combined, and then make flats in a development a "conditional use," with criteria spelled out?

When Hugo Hoogenboom said he'd like to know what the Planning Board thought of those ideas, Mr. Griffin said Committee might introduce two ordinances: its own, and one based on Mr. Jamieson's suggestions, and save time by sending them both off to the Planning Board.

"It's OK, so long as you don't pass them both," he said

But Committee apparently decided one was enough, and Mayor Hall had already suggested to Mr. Jamieson that it might have been "inappropriate" for him to write Committee's amendment.

So, as introduced, the amendment to the flat ordinance specifies that permission to construct a flat is restricted to the owner as resident, or about-to-be resident of an old or newly-built house.

Loop Road Petition

"The road is straight, and invites speeding," Mrs. Howland said.

"I am scared," said Mrs. P.N. Yocum, 307 Shadybrook. "Traffic comes so fast! It isn't that heavy, but the speed....!"

Solutions Sought. "It's a shame, to have two neighborhoods at odds," observed Mr. Blair last Wednesday. He suggested there might be other ways to solve the Overbrook - Shadybrook problem, perhaps by making one-way streets.

Mr. Blair's wife was one of the strongest opponents of the Loop the last time it flared into public view, in late 1974.

Rejected in 1975. At that time -- just three years ago this month -- the Planning Board voted against recommending construction of the Snowden Lane segment (see map, Page 1). The vote was the culmination of a series of heated hearings before Township Committee and the Planning Board over inclusion of the Loop in the Township's 1975-80 capital budget, with construction marked for 1975.

Feelings ran so high and language was so strong, that people who lived on Overbrook asked not to have their names published in local newspapers because they feared reprisals by residents of Dodds and Bertrand.

"People living on Overbrook and Shadybrook don't realize who drives on those streets -- it's their neighbors," said Mrs. Alan Rosenthal, 318 Dodds Lane, this week. "Even if the Loop is in, they'll continue to use Overbrook -- I use it myself to get to Littlebrook School. If speed is their concern, it's up to the police to enforce it."

"I am still absolutely opposed to the Loop, in the strongest terms," said Mrs. Elly Stein, 132 Dodds. She was one of the opponents in the 1974 discussions. At that time, some 1,000 signatures on a protesting petition were presented to the Planning Board.

The Loop Road was originally designed as a way to thin out traffic that would otherwise travel through the center of Princeton -- the so-called CBD. Three years ago, supporters of the Loop had figures predicting an 85 percent increase in center-of-Princeton between 1960 and 1990 without a Loop, and a 17 percent increase in the same period of time if a Loop were built.

DNA RESOLUTION DEBATED
By Borough Council. "By this time, the thread has become confused," observed Princeton University biologist Robert May, arising in Borough Council chamber at 10:20 Tuesday night after more than two hours of discussion had taken place on a proposed recombinant DNA research resolution.

The resolution, presented by Council member William Selden, had not yet come to a vote at press time. Its intent is to notify University and town that Council will pass an ordinance allowing recombinant research at the P-3 level of lab. security, provided there is community watch-dogging and adherence to NIH guidelines.

For anyone who followed Council's discussions last spring, after the DNA citizens committee presented its report recommending P-3 research with safeguards, Tuesday night was a replaying of the tape. In fact, at one point, Jacques Fresco, chairman of the biochemistry department at the University, exclaimed, "It's back to ground zero!"

He protested that Council did not appreciate the work done by its own citizen committee nor the University's biohazards committee. "Over and over again, issues have been taken up in more depth and precision than any other town. At some point, scholars and the community have the right to a definitive answer. This is nothing more than procrastination," he argued.

At the start, Robert Hosford had asked Council who was liable in case of accident and was Council convinced there would be no accidents? A lengthy discussion ensued on questions of liability. Dr. May and Claire Guthrie, assistant University counsel, assuring Mr. Hosford that the University had both insurance and its own financial resources.

Mr. Hosford also asked why the resolution didn't specifically ban P-4 level research. Mr. Selden said he didn't like an ordinance imposing a ban, but by implication, the resolution does not allow P-4 work.

From the audience, John Hite suggested that, although risk was held to be minimal, "we don't see insurance companies rushing in."

Council had been over most of the ground at its Thursday agenda session. Much of its discussion was an effort to reassure Nelson van den Blink, who has balked against allowing recombinant research. She repeated Tuesday night her desire to be specific in the resolution about the kind of biological containment allowed, but she was voted down. Only Leona Medvin joined her.

She also expressed concern about relying on NIH guidelines, which would not apply to a commercial firm that might move into the Borough.

SCHOOL BUDGET TIME
Hearing Tuesday. Public hearing on the school board's $8.9 million budget for 1978-9 will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Community Park School. The vote on the budget by the public, will be Tuesday, February 7.

Construction of the budget this year was from the ground up. Superintendent Paul Houston asked each principal, in essence, how much was needed just to open the door of the school, and budgeting proceeded from there. This represents a different approach from taking last year's budget and adding a certain percentage.

The school board has decided not to ask the state for an increase in its allowed "cap." However, because of a change in the State Employment Insurance situation, the board can decide to increase its budget by $29,000.

Another decision that may be made soon is whether to go to the bond market now, in light of passage of the high school referendum. The bond market is said by experts to be favorable, and board members may decide this is the time.

If that decision is made, taxes for both Borough and Township taxpayers will go up slightly. As the budget is now, Borough taxpayers will pay 7 cents more per $100 of assessed valuation, and Township taxpayers about half a cent less, due to gradual phasing-in to the use of a rateables basis for calculating school taxes.

School programs are much the same in this budget; however, instrumental music at the Middle School level has been increased, with a corresponding decrease in the elementary level. The textbook account is $20,000 more, and will probably be increased yearly to make up for past cutbacks.

FISCAL IMPACT?
Township to Ponder. How much office and commercial development does the Township need to produce additional revenue to balance the cost of more houses?

The Township's proposed Fiscal Impact Study Committee will be asked to find an answer to that one, and to several others in a draft "charge" prepared by Mayor Josie Hall. It will be discussed at Committee's meeting this Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be held, not in Township Hall as usual, but in the Valley Road Building across the street. Early Tuesday morning, the boiler in Township Hall burned out, leaving municipal employees and police in a heatless building on one of the winter's coldest days so far. It will not be replaced in time for Wednesday's meeting.

The boiler did not explode. It was disconnected and allowed to cool.

Mayor Hall also lists the following as subjects the committee should explore:

What are the fiscal needs and resources of the Township now, and when the municipality has grown to limits projected by the Planning Board?

What's the relationship between municipal costs, and the costs to the municipality of different kinds of housing, such as apartments, subsidized housing, single-family homes, and so on?

How much land should the municipality set aside for non-residential development, and where should it be?

How should the Township go about attracting the kind of non-residential development it needs, to achieve a balance of revenue and cost? James Hughes, of the department of urban planning at Livingston College, Rutgers, is expected to offer professional advice.

This Wednesday, Committee will also talk once again about a Landmarks ordinance, the future of the Dinky and how to allocate gallonage in the Montgomery-Princeton sewer system. A preliminary discussion of Administrator Joseph R. Nini's budget will also be on the agenda.

SHORTER MEETINGS?
Built-in Curfew. It's an alarm system shaped like Cinderella's pumpkin coach, and it has Planning Board members scurrying to finish their work at the stroke of midnight.

Now that the board has offices in the Valley Road Building - and incidentally has been transferred from the Borough's ledger to the Township's - it likes to meet in the big Conference Room in the old section. Planning Board offices, in the new section, are smaller.

But the custodian of the old

Wine Talk by Archie Browne

WHY SHOULD SOME WINES BE DECANTED?

Webster's "New World Dictionary" defines the word, "Decant" as: "to pour off a liquid gently without stirring up the sediment. To pour from one container into another." Wine should be brilliant in color when served. Most commercial wines are filtered before shipment, and therefore reach the consumer in excellent condition, without the need for decanting. However, red wines after some years in the bottle will throw off a sediment which is definitely not a negative quality. This cast off is a guarantee of the age of the wine and is one of the reasons for decanting a bottle of red wine. To decant a bottle of wine properly, you need the following things: a good corkscrew, a light (either a candle or flashlight) and a decanting funnel or a piece of muslin to filter while decanting.

hold the bottle so that the light can be seen through the neck of the bottle and watch the wine as it flows through the neck. At the first sign of deposit, stop pouring. Besides serving to separate the wine from any sediment, decanting also helps aerate the wine, which allows the bouquet of the wine to expand and enhances the enjoyment of the wine.

section goes off duty at midnight. The alarm system he must set when he leaves is a complex one and difficult for anyone else to set properly. This means the board must work fast and leave quickly, or face the budgetary implications of time and one-half for the custodian.

In the new wing where Planning Board offices are, the alarm system is so simple — no offense intended — that Planning Board members can set it themselves and meet until 3 a.m. if they want to. But that office is small.

At the first regular meeting of 1978, Margen Penick was re-elected chairman. Hans K. Sander will be vice-chairman. The board approved 13 new lots in Lawrence Greene's Brookstone subdivision.

THREE CARS COLLIDE

At Mercer and Quaker Roads. Three cars collided at Quaker and Mercer roads Thursday, bringing minor injuries to two passengers and a driver.

Donna M. Flaherty, 17, of Neshanic Station, told police she attempted to stop for the stop-sign while driving on Quaker Road but her car skidded through the Mercer intersection and struck a car driven by George K. Celler, Ms. Flaherty complained of hip pain, while her passenger, Dawn A. Flaherty, 16, complained of head pains. Adeline M. Celler, 26, sustained lacerations to her knee and leg. There were no charges by Ptl. Anthony Gaylord following the mishap, which took place shortly before 8 p.m.

Youth Struck. Seven-year old James Salkind of 37 Dempsey Avenue was struck by a car last week, after he suddenly darted into the roadway at the intersection of Jefferson and Terhune. He was treated at the Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the face.

According to police, young Salkind was talking to his mother in a parked car shortly after 5 p.m. when he suddenly darted away into the path of a car driven by Vincent Tufano, 36, 72 Murray Place.

The Tufano car left 26 feet of skid marks but was unable to stop in time. There were no charges by Ptl. James Vandermark.

A truck and car collided in the center of Alexander Street last week, resulting in one injury and two summonses.

The truck driver, Paul Mazoki, 54, of Colonia told police he had put on his emergency flashers and was crossing the center line as he attempted to back into the drive at Princeton Printing.

Botaro Hirotsaki, 31, of Lawrence Apartments said that he saw the truck and slowed down. As the truck came into his lane he veered left and the collision occurred. Mr. Hirotsaki sustained contusions and abrasions of the face and his car had to be towed away.

Ptl. David Funk charged him with failure to keep right. Mr. Mazoki was ticketed for illegal backing in a street.

Seven on Friday. Never on Sunday but seven on Friday — that was the number of accidents Township police investigated, beginning with a two-car skidding accident on Dods Lane between Bertrand Drive and Shady Brook Lane at 8:13 a.m. There were no injuries in any of the seven mishaps.

Three occurred on a curve on Brookstone Drive, 150 feet from Greenway Terrace within 37 minutes of each other.

At 9:12, Arleen Sharlin, 39, 269 Westover Drive, skidded off the roadway into a mailbox. At 9:41, Mitchell L. Arons, 24, of Trenton, skidded rounding the same curve, went off the roadway and into some pine trees.

Eight minutes later, in a carbon copy, Michael Leyzorek, 58, 271 Brookstone Drive, skidded at the same spot and also collided with a pine tree. After receiving complaints, police soon had a sanding truck in the area. (See Mailbox, Page 12.)

THEFT REPORT

Student's Room Looted. A week without thefts in Princeton is like a three-legged chicken: there are none.

When a Princeton University student returned to his room in Cuyler Hall after the holiday break, he discovered that it had been looted. Among the items he lost were his stereo system, a $600 cassette player, two wristwatches, a $650 Nikon camera, three lenses, and a calculator. The total value of everything was $4,230. Police said that his first-floor room had been entered through a window.

Four Polaroid cameras valued at $800 were taken last week from a locker where they were stored in a room in Palmer Labs on the university campus. The locker had been forced open.

A leather wallet containing $12 was stolen Saturday from a man's locker in Dillon Gym - the owner, a Princeton resident told police the locker had been locked -- and a teacher's wallet containing $45 was taken Friday from a closet at Princeton High School. A fourth-floor office at 32 Nassau Street yielded a $90 pair of headphones to a thief who did not have to force his way in.

A set of headphones and $78 were taken Saturday morning from a room in Holder Hall. According to police, two persons entered the room before noon and one began asking questions of the occupant. While the two were engaged in conversation, the other intruder stole the cash and headphones. The theft wasn't discovered until later.

Less than two hours after the report of a theft at Princeton High School of a moped that had been secured with a chain and lock, it was recovered on John Street by Ptl. William Fitch and Ptl. Randy Sutton. Police report that a 13-year old juvenile has been charged with the larceny.

Requirements Listed for Public Housing

If you are elderly and are on the waiting list of the Housing authority, you don't have to apply again if you want an apartment in the new Mt. Lucas-Ewing housing project, the Housing Authority said this week.

However, families who are on the waiting list are being asked to stop at the 50 Clay Street office of the Authority to discuss their application for units in the new project. There are 40 units for families and 60 for the elderly. Residents who have lived in Princeton in the past five years may apply and residents of the Township will receive priority as much as possible.

A family must have at least two persons, and a combined net income of no more than $9,500 for a family of two, ranging up to $14,850 for a family of eight. No housing will be available for single people in the family units.

Elderly applicants must be at least 62 or disabled, and may be either single or couples. The maximum income for a single elderly or disabled person is $8,300 and for a couple, $9,500.

Applications are available at 50 Clay. Completed applications must be returned there.

court Thursday, two area drivers were fined and had their licenses revoked for drunken driving.

John Leshner, 108 Hun Road, was fined $210 and lost his license for 90 days. Frank Petrone, Waterlea Apartments, Hightstown, paid $60 and surrendered his license for six months. Both pleaded guilty.

Fined for speeding in Borough court Monday by Judge Philip Carchman were Kim D. Patterson, 1 Cedar Drive, Hopewell, $24; Mimi Nicholson, 68 Laurel Road, $28; Jerry W. Rudy, 721 Kingston Road, $20; Claire Zahn, 162 Spruce Street, $24; Kathleen Herrington, Kildee Road, Belle Mead, $20; and Ann S. Winn, Route 206, Skillman, $36. Sidney Ratner, 11 Cleveland Lane, and Jane A. Reilly, 155 Hamilton Avenue, were each fined $30 for careless driving.

Others: Edward Palsho, Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro, $25, illegal U-Turn; Nancy T. Sommers, 207 Riverside Drive, $15, no license or registration in possession; Anne Murray, 1267 Stuart Road, $15, overdue inspection; Keith Arnett, 15 Devonshire Drive, Cranbury, $20, improper display of plates; and Raymond Leonard, Princeton, $25, hitchhiking.

Township Court. In Township court last week, four were fined for speeding.

Raymond J. Clark, 66 Greenway Terrace and Christopher E. Helm, 207 Mount Lucas Road, each paid $20; Lucas G. Ritschl, 443 Herrontown Road, paid $40 and James E. Ward 2d, 187 Birch Avenue, paid $25. Mr. Ward was also fined $10 for contempt of court.

Gertrude M. Garrett of Tenacre and Ferenc Vadovszki, 1734 Princeton Avenue, Lawrenceville, paid $65 and $45 for careless driving. Failure to give the proper signal cost Gail L. Waterman, 140 Snowden Lane, $50.

YOUTH TAKES CAR

And Problems Begin. A 14-year old Skillman youth has been charged as a juvenile delinquent for taking a car without the owner's consent and with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

The youth, police said, took his father's car at 2:30 Monday morning without his consent. At 6:33, he was involved in an accident on Bayard Lane but escaped injury.

The youth told Ptl. William Clark that his attention was diverted as he tried to roll up a side window. His car struck the Bayard Lane curb near the intersection of Cleveland Lane and hit a hospital sign. It continued up an embankment and struck several small, bush-like trees, before returning to Bayard Lane, where it finally came to a stop, approximately 600 feet from where it first left the roadway.

The front end of the 1968 sedan was considerably damaged and both front tires were ripped apart. The youth was taken to Borough headquarters by a passing motorist.

TWO GUITARS STOLEN

From Von Neumann Apt. Two electric guitars and a case with a total value of $617.15 were stolen between 2:30 and 4:30 last Wednesday afternoon from the VonNeumann Drive apartment of Marc Leonard. A sliding glass window on the side of the apartment had been smashed to gain entry to the first-floor room.

The following day, two 15-year old Princeton juveniles were arrested and charged with the theft. They will be processed by Sgt. Anthony Pinelli, the Township juvenile officer. The guitars were returned to Mr. Leonard.

James P. Davis, 210 Linden Lane, told Township police Sunday that items have been stolen from his apartment on three separate occasions.

On December 23, a woman's sweater, wrapped as a Christmas present, was stolen from his desk; four days later, a pair of sneakers was taken. On Sunday, he reported a $200 sport coat and $300 suit missing from his closet. His total loss: $648.95.

Mr. Davis informed police that he is having his locks changed. Ptl. Jerry Offredo investigated.

GARBAGE MAN INJURED

In Fall From Truck. Robert Coleman, 38, of New Brunswick was injured last week when he fell from a garbage truck on Mansgrove Road.

Responding to a 1 p.m. call Friday, Ptl. David Cromwell found Mr. Coleman lying unconscious with a severe laceration of his forehead in the east lane of Mansgrove. An employee of the Higgins Disposal Service of Kingston, he was taken by the Princeton First Aid Unit to Princeton Medical Center.

The driver, Robert H. Burnett, told police that Mr. Coleman had just made a pickup and was standing on the back of the truck. He had just started to move, he continued, when he looked in his rear view mirror and saw the victim lying on the ground.

TWO ARE CHARGED

With Obstructing Traffic. Timothy Garrison, 18, of Cincinnati and Edmund Leger, 21, of Halston, Mass., have been charged by Borough police with obstructing traffic.

They were seen stopping cars on Vandeventer Avenue Monday night by Sgt. Thomas Michaud and Ptl. Randy

Sutton, who had responded to a call from the Hudibras Restaurant on Nassau Street that two men were creating a disturbance.

When they arrived at the restaurant, those creating the disturbance had left but the officers soon observed the two suspects in the intersection of Nassau and Vandeventer. They are scheduled to appear in Borough Court February 1.

Arrested in Home. Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holliday arrested Robert L. Pervis, 37, Thursday in his Shirley Court home.

Pervis was wanted for atrocious assault and battery after he allegedly beat a man about the head with a piece of wood last November 10, causing the victim to be hospitalized and suffer possible permanent eye and ear damage. He was later released in $500 bail, pending his appearance in court this Wednesday.

The same day, the two detectives also served a malicious damage summons on Edwin Watt, 18, of Humbert Street. Watt, police said, allegedly threw eggs at homes during mischief night before Halloween. Two Princeton juveniles were also arrested in conjunction with the same offense.

CORNER HOUSE SUBJECT

Of PTO Meeting. The annual winter Open Meeting of the Princeton High School PTO, to be held Wednesday evening, January 18, at 8 in the school cafeteria, will offer parents and students an opportunity to learn about the work of Corner House, Princeton's center for young people whose lives are complicated by drug abuse.

Nancy White, director of Corner House, will explain its program. It is a municipal agency founded in 1972 with the support of the Borough and Township and the Board of Education. In 1977, 505 people were served at Corner House in a total of 4823 counselling sessions.

The bulk of them are between the ages of 14 and 25 and are divided almost equally between male and female. Mrs. White received the 1977 Soroptimist Award: Women Helping Women.

John Hoad, Corner House Clinical Supervisor, will discuss adolescent problems as seen in the context of the family. Using fictionalized cases drawn from available data, he will demonstrate an assessment technique described as a "geneogram," a reading of the "family tree" of dynamic relationships. Mr. Hoad is a minister of religion now obtaining his doctorate in counselling at Princeton Theological Seminary.

DRUG PROGRAM SET

For Senior Citizens. New Jersey Citizens who are 65 or older and meet certain income requirements are eligible for a new drug prescription program.

An individual is eligible if his or her income is $9,000 or less as a single person or $12,000 or less for a married couple, unless the applicant has other insurance or Medicaid that pays fully for pharmaceuticals. Applications and explanatory brochures are available at all drug stores, most churches, senior citizen housing offices and clubs and at the Outreach Office at 102 Witherspoon Street.

Applicants will receive a card from the PAA (Pharmaceutical Assistance to the Aged) office which must be presented to the pharmacy along with $1 for each prescription, including refills. The balance of the cost will be paid directly to the pharmacy by the PAA program. Insulin and insulin syringes are included, but over the counter drugs such as aspirin are not.

Those who were already enrolled in the existing PAA program by filing for reimbursement for their 1977 drug expenditures should have received a card automatically by now. If not, call the PAA office at 292-9007.

Those who were not enrolled in the existing program and who have significant drug expenditures for 1977 and who have met the income requirements have until June 30, 1978 to file for reimbursement. Forms for this are also available at drug stores and at the Outreach Office. Those who need assistance in filling out either application may call Barbara Schleyer at the Outreach Office, 924-0996.

All languages are taught by native speaking instructors with many years of experience. Semi-private classes meet once a week for two hours and last for 15 weeks. Classes are limited to a maximum of four participants, and lessons are held in the instructors' homes.

Although most of the students are adults, the number of children enrolled each semester has increased by 400 percent during the past two years. Language instruction for children is based on real situations, and songs and poems are used along with games, toys, picture books and records. In addition, teachers use textbooks and tape recorders to enable students to review the material at home.

Aside from language instruction the Language Group provides a rapid and accurate translation service into English and foreign languages. The translators are qualified to handle commercial, literary, technical and scientific material. For registration or more information, call 924-9335 or 921-3093.

The ten-week session will start January 29 at the Unitarian Church and will offer children, teens and adults the chance to write and share in small groups limited to 10 per workshop.

The children's program will include David Mackey's workshop for students in grade 5 and up who are interested in cartooning for film strips and comic books. The focus in Kathy Kenfield's create-a-book workshop for grades 3-5 will be autobiographical, recording memories in words and pictures. Anne Reeves will again teach story illustration for children in grades 4 and up and will concentrate this term on family crests, games, posters and logos. Becoming a member of the staff of Helikon Corner Newspaper or joining a creative writing workshop are other alternatives for middle-schoolers.

Fund Tops $4,800

Another $200 contributed to TOWN TOPICS' Christmas Fund during the past week raised the total amount received to $4,831.23. It is the largest sum received in ten years.

All of the money will be allocated to those whose needs have been approved by the Family Service Agency. None of it is used for administrative costs, which are met in full by TOWN TOPICS.

the demands made by society upon the male, how he is socialized into being a "man," and the price he pays.

Refreshments and an opportunity for discussion will follow the film.

READINGS TO CONTINUE

At Library. The "Readings over Coffee" programs will be continued in 1978 by the Public Library. Dr. Donald Ecroyd, professor of speech at Temple University, will present readings selected from biography, fiction, poetry and drama.

"Readings over Coffee" will be held on the third Wednesday of each month January through May at 10 at the Public Library. On Wednesday, January 18, the focus will be on Robert E. Lee as seen in his own writing and in the writing of others. There is no charge, and everyone is welcome.

Landlords? Register!

If you own property in the Township, and rent all or part of it for people to live in, you must register it by February 1 with the Township clerk. Such registration is required each year in the Township, and forms are available in Township Hall. There is no fee.

In the Borough, a single registration is all that is required. Landlords need not register each year. Anyone who has not registered rental property in the Borough may do so at Borough Hall.

AFS STUDENTS MEET

At Stuart School. American Field Service students from 11 chapters gathered at the Stuart Country Day School last weekend to celebrate the school's second year in the AFS program. The event, sponsored by Stuart's AFS Club, included some American AFS students who have returned from abroad.

About 30 foreign students from 20 countries spent Thursday night with families of Stuart students and attended Elm Ridge Park school on Friday. An international dinner, held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Karl Zaininger Friday night, was highlighted by entertainment provided by the visiting students. On Saturday they returned to their American families.

American Field Service's program offers high school students around the world an opportunity to live in another country, not as tourists or visitors, but as members of a family, a school, a community; its aim is to promote international understanding.

Currently five Princeton families are hosts to students and two Princeton students are abroad - one in Finland and one in South America.

The Princeton Chapter is now seeking host families for the '78-'79 school year. Any interested family with a student at Princeton Day, Princeton High or the Stuart Country Day should contact Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker, President, Princeton AFS, 921-7599.

Our once-a-year sale.

4 for $100
Reg. $50 each
Limited quantities

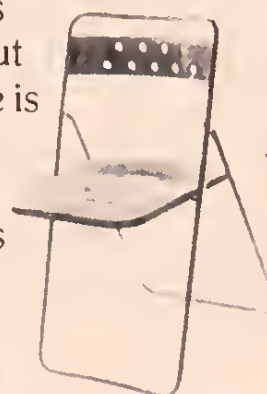

Here it is. The stupendous furniture sale you've been waiting for the whole year. The once-a-year sale when we mark down practically everything in the whole store from 10% to 40%.

What's everything? Our regular stuff. You see, we don't bring in so-called specials or stock up on things that no one wants at regular prices the way a lot of other places do. Instead, we take our best stuff - and that includes our butcher block tables, music benches, upholstery, desks, bedrooms and chairs galore - and lower the prices. Substantially. (Of course, there are some things, like brand new items and stuff that's oversold that we don't put on sale. But then, no one is totally perfect.)

But, what is on sale is amazing. So don't miss out. Because, to the best of our knowledge (and we've done a lot of checking), we're the only furniture store we know that has only one storewide sale a year. Which means if you miss it, you'll have to wait all the way until 1979 to get bargains like these again.

GUINNESS FILM SET

At Library. The Public Library will present the comedy film, "The Man in the White Suit," Thursday, January 19 at 8.

Alec Guinness stars as Sidney Stratton, a research chemist who invents an artificial fabric that will never stain or wear out. Supporting stars are Joan Greenwood and Cecil Parker as Daphne and Alan Birnley.

The free screening is made possible through a bequest to the Library by the late Edith Barenholtz.

WINDSOR SETS MEETING

To Plan Drug Education. The Drug Education Committee of the West Windsor - Plainsboro Regional School District will meet with the representatives of numerous community groups at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday in Room 200D of the high school. The purpose of the meeting will be to participate in the establishment of the concepts and goals for a K-12 drug education curriculum.

The committee began formulating plans to develop curriculum materials in the area of drug education awareness during the 1976-77 school year. Members are Isabella Marcotrigiano, assistant superintendent of schools; MaryAnn McKee, chairperson; JoAnn Bartoletti, assistant principal of the high school; Janice Bartolini, high school nurse; Joyce Benson, teacher; Adele Budd, parent; Maureen Catalina, secretary; Lois Fox, board of education member; Elizabeth Inverso, librarian; Don Mannain, counselor; Ann Pace, principal of the Dutch Neck School; Jnan Wright, teacher; Rex Walker, teacher; Nancy Weakley, student; Mike Root, student.

The members of the committee believe that if a program pertaining to drug abuse is to be successful, the total community must be involved. Therefore it is seeking representatives of parent groups, the police, the church, the medical community, public health agencies, school groups and other agencies to assist in an all-out effort to combat growing drug abuse.

BLOOD DRIVE SET

In Pennington. A blood drive will be held Friday from 6-9 at Cyrus Masonic Temple, 131 Burd Street, Pennington.

The demands for blood during the recent holiday season have been excessive, at a time when reserves are at their lowest supply. Donors between the ages of 17 and 66 are urged to volunteer. Seventeen-year olds must have parental consent.

TWO COURSES PLANNED

In Health Care. The Department of Community Health Services at the Medical Center will conduct a series of four weekly classes for diabetics, their families and friends. The classes will describe what diabetes is, the need for a diabetic diet, the diabetic gourmet and oral medications or insulin.

They will begin Thursday, at 3:30 in the Hospital Unit meeting rooms. For more information, call 921-7700 extension 265.

An Emergency Medical Technician course will be offered on Monday at the Maurice-Hawk Elementary School, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction. The Princeton Emergency Medical Technician

LET'S TALK ABOUT

Practical Tree Care in Winter with Sam de Tura

Trees and shrubs need a helping hand during winter snow and ice storms says Sam de Tura of Woodwinds. Frequently, winter storms break tree branches or twist them out of shape.

If evergreens are piled high with snow, raise the branches carefully by hand and shake gently. Do not pound the tops.

Snow becomes dangerous on deciduous shrubs and trees when it is wet and there is a chance that it will freeze. Ice is even more dangerous, as its weight causes numerous tree branches to split. Before ice reaches the branch shattering point, play a stream of water from a garden hose on the ice-coated shrub or tree. This water is usually warmer than outside air and will melt the ice. A few sharp knocks with a pole or stick will bring down much of the ice after it has already accumulated, relieving the burden of weight from the branches.

Salt should be used sparingly this winter when melting ice and snow on driveways and walks as it seeps into the soil and severely injures trees, shrubs and other foundation plantings. Sand or ashes should be used rather than salt. If you must use salt in quantity, flush the soil around the roots with water early next spring to reduce the harmful effects of the chloride.

Next Week: Trees Popping in Winter.

Dinner-Dance for Seniors Tuesday

A dinner-dance and installation of officers for Princeton Senior Citizens will be held next Tuesday from 6 to 11 at the Nassau Inn.

Roast beef, a live band and a guest speaker are all on the program. Tickets, at $7 per person, may be purchased at the Recreation Department in the Valley Road Building, or at the Senior Resource Center, Lloyd Terrace.

Judge Arthur S. Lane, former football and hockey player at Princeton University, will be the speaker. Guests will dance to the music of Russ Radice and his band, and they know how to play YOUR music, according to Recreation Department officials.

New officers to be installed are Walter Coan, president; Larry Fitzgerald, vice-president; Alice Schannel, secretary; Joseph Richards, treasurer. The Rev. Leon Gipson will deliver the invocation.

PEOPLE In The News

Alvin J. Hollander of 30 Mulberry Row, a former Channel 10 program director in Philadelphia and ABC director in New York City was instrumental in developing "The Defection of Simas Kudirka," a two-hour true-life story which CBS will broadcast January 23 at 9. It stars Alan Arkin as the Lithuanian seaman who escaped from a Russian ship in 1970.

Mr. Hollander negotiated the TV rights to Kudirka's life story which led to the CBS production. He says that CBS plans to publicize the film much in the same way the story of Jane Pittman was publicized.

Dr. Hans J. Priester, associate director at the Whitney Center of the Mercer County Community Guidance Center and psychological consultant at Stuart Country Day School, has been invited by UNESCO-Paris to spend six months this year and three months next year in Hong Kong.

Dr. Priester, whose specialty is in the area of intelligence testing, will serve as consultant to the special education department of Hong Kong University to help standardize an intelligence test for Cantonese speaking children with special educational needs. He lives on Mill Road, Cranbury.

Christopher J. Mele, son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard S. Mele of 988 Kingston Road, is one of 30 Northfield Mount Hermon School students named to the high honor roll for the fall term. He is a junior.

Jeannine Edelblut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edelblut of 160 Fisher Place, is one of 26 St. Lawrence University students who will spend the month of January in London, England, studying English literature and art.

Wayne W. Arden, son of Prof. and Mrs. Bruce W. Arden, 148 Springdale Road, gave a clarinet recital at Hopkins Center, Dartmouth College. He played works by Brahms, Debussy, Poulenc and Ravel, and was accompanied by his mother Patricia Arden. Mr. Arden is a junior at Dartmouth, majoring in engineering, and has studied clarinet with John Mohler, University of Michigan; George Jones, Douglass College and Donald Wendland at Dartmouth.

James S. L. Bradshaw, son of Mrs. Cynthia L. Bradshaw of 188 Spring Beauty Drive, Lawrenceville, has been promoted to first lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force.

Lieutenant Bradshaw, a T-37 instructor pilot, is assigned to Vance AFB, Okla., with a unit of the Air Training Command. The lieutenant, a 1971 graduate of Lawrence High School, received a B.A. degree in history in 1975 from The Citadel, Charleston, S.C., where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Moped Law Monday

Township police wish to remind residents that new state moped legislation will take effect on Monday.

Under the new legislation, all moped operators must be 15 and have a valid driver's license or a motorized bicycle license which may be obtained at the Division of Motor Vehicles. Other parts of the new law require every moped owner to carry liability insurance, prohibit the carrying of passengers and specify where mopeds may operate. A complete copy of the new law may be obtained at Township headquarters.

Fifteen St. Lawrence University students are exploring career opportunities in the field of English this month as part of the university's January interterm program, working as interns in such fields as public relations, television, journalism and advertising. Sharron E. Soffen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Soffen, 95 Longview Drive, is working with the staff of Playboy magazine in New York.

Airman Richard O. Alexandersen has graduated from the U.S. Air Force's aircraft egress systems equipment repairman course conducted by the Air Training Command at Chanute AFB in Illinois.

Airman Alexandersen, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ole Alexandersen of Griggstown is now trained to repair and inspect aircrew emergency ejection and escape systems, and will serve in Zweibrücken, Germany. He is a 1977 graduate of Franklin High School.

Daniel E. Clohossey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clohossey of 479 Jefferson Road, is one of 16 Oberlin College students who will leave the United States on January 29 for 16 weeks of study and travel in the German Studies Abroad Program sponsored by the German department of the college.

T. Kimberlie Cromwell, daughter of Mrs. Erna B. Cromwell of 214 Linden Lane, has been selected for the concert choir at Denison University in Granville, Ohio. She is a freshman and an alto.

MAILBOX

Road Maintenance Poor
To the Editor of Town Topics:
This morning at about 9, a lady's car skidded just near the entrance to our driveway and crashed through our mail box, and some rocks and small trees, ending up within inches of a utility pole. The police were called and conducted the usual investigation.

No sooner had they finished than another car crashed into a tree some 20 yards further along. The driver was able to back the car onto the road and park near the police car. Hardly had he moved his car than another one crashed into the same tree. Two other cars skidded onto a grass bank on the other side of the road, narrowly missing another utility pole.

The maintenance of Brookstone Drive and adjacent roads by the Township has been noticeably bad for some time. I asked the police officer why they had not sanded this road, and in fact rarely do, and he replied that they just didn't get to it.

Finally, at the instance of the police, I suppose, the sander made its belated appearance at about 10 o'clock. Meanwhile the wrecker hauled the third car away. All three cars were seriously damaged. I do not know what if any injuries there were.

There are many spots in this area where the roadway needs attention and improved drainage.

I hope that bringing this matter of road maintenance to the attention of the public will stimulate the Township to do a better job, unless they are thinking of going into the car repair business.

W.M. ADAMS
P.S.: In my 17 years of residence at this address, I have never seen Brookstone Drive so neglected as this year. Six days since the snow fall and nothing done until three accidents occur.

Double Standard Attacked
To the Editor:
There is something very unfair with the practices of the local theaters.

As a 12-year old, I am charged as an adult, but until I am 17 I will be treated as a child.

to do with the proposed Constitution Hill condominium construction project.

We are writing first to express our amazement in finding that "news" articles in TOWN TOPICS are in fact editorials. At the December 28 meetings of the Township Committee and the Board of Adjustment, we must report to you that Ms. Bretnall's story was an editorial in support of the proposed Constitution Hill project and the flat ordinance as it stands.

For example, while the story quotes Mr. Moffat, it fails to quote former Mayor Bleiman and Committeeman Sutphen who advised the Township Committee, contrary to Mr. Moffat's advice, that the flat ordinance adopted while they were on the Committee was not intended to apply to new developments such as the one proposed for Constitution Hill.

In addition, Ms. Bretnall quoted a supporter of the project and the attorney representing the developer, but failed to quote any of the persons who spoke in opposition to the flat ordinance. She also neglected to report that the Township Committee stated at the meeting that the Planning Board had voted 7 to 3 to oppose flats for the new developments. It seems that the effect of this article was to create the impression of substantial support for the flat ordinance as it applies to new housing developments.

Therefore, we wish to alert all residents of the Princeton area that to allow new housing developers to exploit the flat ordinance will, as Professor Rose (a member of the Planning Board) said when the Planning Board considered this, turn the Township into a two-family community. This would have the effect of eliminating any zone in the town set aside for one family residences.

Such actions conflict with the existing master plan and ordinance and any proposed master plan which has ever been considered. To permit a developer to take advantage of this ordinance, would, to paraphrase Mr. Moffat, be "hatchet planning" contrary not only to the existing ordinances and a master plan, but also to the express intention of the Municipal Land Use Law of the State of New Jersey.

We urge all citizens of Princeton Township to tell the Township Committee that they should act immediately to prevent the exploitation of this flat ordinance.

WAYNE R. CARNEY
Committee Co-Chairman
Princeton Citizens for Sound Planning and Zoning

Flats Favored
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Most of the members of governments, planning boards and such are healthy people in their middle years, at the peak of their earning capacity and with children still at home.

Indispensable to our community are a large number of younger people—teachers, nurses, people just starting in business—people who at that stage in their careers do not need and cannot afford houses. Because of the shortages of apartments here, many of them live in West Windsor, Trenton, Mercerville etc. and drive to work in Princeton, thereby causing traffic and parking problems here.

At the other end of the scale, there are retired couples and widows on reduced incomes who no longer need houses and are not able, physically or financially, to maintain them. Friends in this category have settled in Kingston, Lawrenceville, Pennington etc.

Perry Morgan's imaginative plan for building attractive houses with flats would fill a real community need besides preserving nice land from being chopped up, which seems to be the alternative.

ELEANOR M. DELANOY
62 Battle Road

"Inventive" Plan Supported.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a letter we have sent to Mrs. Sydnor B. Penick, chairman of the Regional Planning Board:

Only a month ago the local press clearly pointed out the critical need for additional housing in the Princeton area. And, for many, many years, the idea of a Master Plan has lain fallow. Now that an inventive and practical plan for providing considerable relief has been instituted by Perry Morgan, it would be almost catastrophic at this time to thwart his idea of developing Constitution Hill along the lines he has suggested.

The format of cluster housing with flats suits the lovely terrain most admirably, thus leaving the charm of open spaces, while at the same time providing better land usage than would occur with a number of large and expensive single houses. As Mr. and Mrs. James Thornton have pointed out, the conversion of Guernsey Hall to apartments has done nothing to hurt the Marquand Park - Lovers Lane area, and Constitution Hill is a close parallel.

It seems in this instance, that to change the township "flat" law or to possibly await a Master Plan (if ever forthcoming), in order to block what is a brilliantly and earnestly conceived plan, would be most detrimental to the needs of the Princeton community.

TOPS IN TACK

The Village Saddlery. Horse owners rejoice! There's a new tack shop in the old yellow house at the corner of Route 518 and The Great Road. Called "The Village Saddlery," it can supply every need for horse and rider from the most basic linaments and grooming aids to the most elegant custom-made riding apparel.

This well stocked shop is owned and managed by two young women, who have ridden and cared for horses since they were small girls. Carolyn Canavan, owner, daughter of a racetrack trainer, showed hunters for many years and now operates a stable at Plymouth Meeting, Pa. Beverly Rogart, manager, has ridden all her life and most recently exercised race horses at the Keystone Race Track in Cornwell Heights, Pa.

Both women felt there was a need for a tack shop in this area, and, from their own experience, knew exactly what items to order for horse care, equipment needed for riding them, and the special clothes that provide style and comfort for the rider.

Everyday needs for horses are comprised of oils, linaments, medicated poultice dressings, mineral oil, epsom salts, a complete line of wormers, pine tar, aspirin, wheat germ oil and other diet supplements and immersion heaters for warming equine drinking water.

Grooming aids include brushes, combs, sponges, rubbing cloths, horse shampoos, clippers for trimming fetlocks and ears, blacksmith's tools for pulling shoes, protective leg and footwear, such as bandages for the legs and rubber bells for the feet.

Tack - bridles, girths, halters, saddles - is here in a variety of choices. English saddles by Crosby and Passier can be chosen for the type of riding usage - all purpose, jump, hunter, show. Crosby bridles, raised, or raised and stitched, braided or laced, are offered in wide selection. Saddle blankets and pads give protective cushioning. Used tack is also available.

Leather care and maintenance supplies, such as saddle soap, neatsfoot oil, boot creams, add long life and lasting beauty to fine leathers. Metal polishes keep bits and stirrups gleaming.

Horse Clothes. Blankets, coolers, rain sheets for horses can be purchased from stock or ordered in stable colors with stable name or horse name or monogram.

Hiding Clothes. Four way stretch jodphurs and breeches are here; rat-catcher shirts in various colors and designs - for children 6-14, $8.95, women 30-38, $9.50. Long-sleeved turtle necked shirts are stocked for men.

Riding jackets, both summer and winter weight are double vented, fitted and styled for riding. Helmets, gloves, crops complete the fashion picture. Custom riding clothes can be made to measure in styles chosen from illustrations and swatches of material.

Custom boots can be ordered from E. Vogel of New York, in regular or jodphur lengths. Leather Marlborough boots, made in England can be purchased from stock.

Raincoats and black rubber boots are furnished for foul weather riding and make good all purpose rain gear.

Comfy (brand) down riding jackets and vests for men and women are more tapered and less bulky than conventional styles. Tan, green, or blue nylon shells are quilted in squares and have a mouton-type collar. The jackets are ideal for riding and vests provide just the right amount of warmth when working around the stable.

Jacket and vest worn together give cozy warmth when watching horse shows in cold weather. All can be machine washed and dried. Just throw a sneaker into the drier with them to pound up the fluff.

THE SADDLE TREE dwarfs jockey-sized Beverly Bogart, manager of The Village Saddlery, who formerly exercised race horses at the Keystone Race Track. Having ridden and cared for horses most of her life, she is amply qualified to help you make selections from a complete line of horse and rider needs at this new tack shop, located at The Great Road and Route 518, Blawenburg.

Many informative, humorous, or beautifully illustrated books, all about horses, of course, offer advice on training, showing, dressage, breeding, health problems, horse psychology, trail riding, first aid, etc.

The Village Saddlery, corner of The Great Road and Route 518, Blawenburg, welcomes you from 10-6 Monday through Saturday; 10-9, Friday.

REGISTRATION DUE

For Aliens Living Here. The United States Immigration and Naturalization Service has reminded all aliens in New Jersey that approximately two weeks remain in which non-citizens must file their annual address reports as required by law.

Mr. Gaffney urges all aliens to report their addresses before the end of January, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious penalties.

COUNCIL REORGANIZES

In Pennington, Beverly P. Thurman has begun a new three-year term on Pennington Borough Council last week and Joseph P. Wortz was sworn in for the first time.

Thomas O'Neill was the outgoing council-member (defeated by Mr. Wortz in November's election). Nancy H. Schluter was elected Council President for the coming year. She has served on council for two years and was former Mercer County Republican Chairman.

Mayor E. Weed Tucker named the following council members to head the various borough departments:

Ezra Bixby, finance and personnel; George Pearson, public works and borough property; Beverly Thurman, recreation and shade tree; Nancy Schluter, water department; Joseph Wortz, public safety; Rosemary Wetherill, planning and development.

COLD AND WET

Forecast for January. January will be mostly cold and wet across New Jersey, according to a weather outlook for the period issued by James Carr, advisory agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service at Rutgers University's Cook College.

"Colder than normal temperatures are expected for most of the month, with warming trends likely around mid-January and again during the fourth week of the month," said Mr. Carr. Daily average temperatures during January are 25 degrees in northern portions of the state and 33 degrees in South Jersey.

Home gardeners should continue to check their overwintering plants and shrubs to be sure the root systems are protected from the alternate freezing and thawing spells typical of midwinter. Mulching offers plants such protection, he said.

With regard to wet weather, frequent storms passing to the south of the state will mean that more than the normal three inches of precipitation for New Jersey during January can be expected, particularly along southern coastal sections.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

BOARD OF Education representatives and Budget are the prime items that come before the public in the February ballot; Highlights endorses no one in the former category, but will present capsule views of the latter - based on the community's views of past "controversial" items.

A budget is about as popular as a losing lottery ticket, for it involves expenditure with no certain return - figures, percentages, pie-charts notwithstanding. But school budget planning has been underway for many months, since it is based on many factors from year to year. Most recently the biggest factor has been the "cap", a percentage increase allowed by the State that takes into consideration previous spending, area ratables and per pupil expenditure, to name a few.

What can a school district do when the cap is effectively less than the current inflation surge? One answer that is unpopular in Princeton is to take the knife to the arts and sports programs. The community concern expressed during the past few years convinced everyone that these areas should be maintained as an integral part of the curriculum; the 1978-79 figures underline the fact that there will be continued instructional and after-school programs in both, though with some modification.

Instrumental music will begin at the fifth grade level; money saved by this change will be used to intensify the middle school instrumental program. Vocal music instruction should continue essentially unchanged throughout the system.

Sports at the middle school underwent a change in 77-78 with the development of an after-school intramural program that has increased participation while actually decreasing the expense - cost-effectiveness is the term used (what it means is steak on a hamburger budget). The PHS sports program will remain intact: in-school, after-school, girls and boys.

One other program which sparked parent comment was the extended Kindergarten in several schools. The next year will see this particular plan continued, but with a full evaluation that is in the planning stages for Spring consideration. Studies on childhood learning have emphasized the importance of the first five years; with this in mind, the school's decision is not to cut until complete studies have been made in this area.

RS STUDENTS had a real treat before the holidays. Mrs. Sue Chace's kindergarten performed "The Gingerbread Boy" for the school and kindergarten parents. A dress rehearsal was played to visiting LB kindergarteners. The sly fox who caught and devoured the gingerbread boy was not the only well-fed participant; the cast distributed real gingerbread boys to the audience.

A FEAR OF thirteen? Not Mrs. Brecht, a first grade LB teacher. She has thirteen parents who volunteer for classroom work on a regular basis this year, usually on an every-other-week schedule.

SEVENTEENTH century books? At RS? Students under the direction of fifth grade teacher Zane Long have made reproductions of colonial "horn books". The books are actually paddle-shaped pieces of pine with the alphabet and numbers on one side; originally these books had a protective coating of a thin piece of cow's horn, hence the name. The RS version was designed, cut, sanded, stained, glued, waxed and covered - with twentieth century plastic.

"ASSIGNMENT the World", a channel 52 program watched by Mrs. Dreeben's fourth graders at LB, recently had a contest on how we can conserve energy. The class entered posters; one, a portrayal of a supersonic-solar power plant by Andrew Smith, was shown on a program segment.

PHS STUDENTS can fill any empty gaps in their schedules by taking advantage of a "space available" listing sheet for second semester classes. Everything from Foods and Crafts through a variety of Math, Social Studies and Business courses are presented for those who might want to learn a little more during a free period.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Alice C. Bretnall, 82, died January 6 at the Freehold Hospital, Freehold. A former resident of Princeton, she had been living in the Applegarth Care Center, Hightstown. She was the widow of Harold B. Bretnall.

Mrs. Bretnall was born in Stephenson, Mich. She moved to Denver with her parents as a young child and attended schools there, graduating from the University of Denver. Her father was Dr. Ira E. Cutler, head of the biology department of the University of Denver and a well-known botanist.

A musician, Mrs. Bretnall taught piano, organ, and voice and in her later years specialized in church music. She served as organist and choir director for several churches in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut over the years. In 1965, she retired and moved to Princeton.

She is survived by a son, William R. Bretnall of Princeton; a grandson, William C. Bretnall of Cleveland; a granddaughter, Mrs. Anne Bretnall Steen of Kirkwood, Missouri; two great-grandchildren; and three sisters, all of Colorado.

Family services and interment were in Denver.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Conger, a Princeton resident from 1919 until she moved to Pennington five years ago, died January 6 in Capitol Hill Hospital, Washington. Born in Katonah, N.Y., she was the wife of the late Arthur M. Conger.

Mrs. Conger attended Ingleside School in Milford, Conn., and St. Mary's Preparatory School in Garden City, L.I. She majored there in concert-piano.

Her life here was spent in service of numerous institutions, among them the Medical Center and its Auxiliary, the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Historical Society, Trinity Episcopal Church and its Altar Guild, and the English-Speaking Union. She belonged to the Present Day Club, the Nassau Club, the Princeton Chapter of the D.A.R. and, while living in Pennington, to St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

A funeral service was held there, the Rev. John Belmont officiating.

Mrs. Ethel Louise Underwood, 74, died December 27 in Venice, Florida. She had moved to that state from Princeton five years ago, living in Port Charlotte.

A son, Larry, of Charlestown, W. Va., and a grandson, survive.

The funeral was held in Homer, N.Y., with burial in Glenwood Cemetery there.

Plans Developing for 37-Acre Business Complex At Junction - Cost Estimated at $35 Million

A 37-acre complex straddling the dinginess of the Princeton Junction railroad tracks was drawn in detail before the West Windsor Zoning Board last Thursday in the application of W.L. Bamberger, Inc.

Rising from the cinders, the complex on the Princeton side of the tracks would comprise a 400-room motel and conference center (250,000 square feet total), 100,000 square feet of retail space including shops, restaurants and maybe even the ultimate glamor of a theatre.

Across the tracks, the developer proposes three office buildings of 100,000 square feet each and six parking yards with 4,150 spaces including two three-story garages.

Architect Robert Geddes told the Zoning Board the maximum height of all buildings will be 80 feet. Red brick with white trim and cast stone will echo Colonial traditions, but the buildings will be contemporary in design. No neon and glass, Mr. Geddes promised.

The $35 million complex requires a whole portfolio of variances, and last week's hearing was only the beginning. David Mendelson, a traffic consultant, suggested to the Zoning Board that some intersections nearby be widened to four lanes to accommodate the increased traffic that Bamberger believes will be generated by the project.

Bamberger will pay its fair share, the Zoning Board was told, using a formula based on how much traffic uses the complex. Bamberger has also said it may help subsidize the Dikey shuttle from Princeton to Princeton Junction. The Dikey tracks run alongside the complex.

Mr. Mendelson will continue his testimony at the board's January 23 meeting. The Bamberger organization is expected also to present its engineer, real-estate expert and representatives of the state Department of Transportation.

Stores Being Asked to Give Discounts To Princeton Residents 60 and Over

A senior citizen discount program for Princeton residents age 60 and up, will be inaugurated this year. The project is sponsored by the Joint Commission on Aging, Recreation Department, Senior Resource Center, American Association of University Women and Princeton Regional Schools.

Beginning this week, Princeton merchants will be solicited by members of AAUW, who are undertaking the task as their community project this year, according to Dorothy J. Kruger, AAUW community chairman. The Joint Commission on Aging and Princeton Regional Schools are financing printing costs of the senior citizen identification cards, participating merchant cards and booklets listing merchant information for seniors.

The Recreation Department and Senior Resource Center will register seniors. In addition, the Recreation Department will act as liaison with the merchants should any problems arise.

Each participating merchant will have the opportunity to determine what specific type of discount he is willing to offer and any special conditions. For example, a merchant could offer, "Ten percent discount for cash purchases, Tuesdays only."

Soliciting of merchants will continue through January 23. Each merchant will sign a contract listing his type of discount and the contract will be reviewed every two years.

Registration of senior citizens will begin about the middle of February. For further information, contact the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

further details, call 586-4800, extension 229.

TAX RATE DROPS

On Phone Service. The federal excise tax on telephone service was dropped from five percent to four percent on January 1, 1978, and will save New Jersey Bell customers about $12.5 million on their telephone bills during the year.

The excise tax is being phased out by reducing the percentage each January 1 and is scheduled to end January 1, 1982. The federal excise tax is paid on most local service and equipment charges and on charges for interstate and intrastate long distance calls.

It was first imposed by Congress in 1914 and was repealed in 1924. From 1932 to 1941, a tax was collected on long distance service only.

Since 1941, an excise tax ranging as high as 25 percent has been imposed on local and long distance service.

Princetonian, Who Worshipped at Trinity Church as a Girl, Will Be Ordained to the Priesthood There Saturday Morning

The Rev. Louise Lauck Kingston will be ordained to the priesthood in the Episcopal Church on Saturday at 10:30 in Trinity Church.

The service, which will be conducted by the Right Rev. G.P. Mellick Belshaw, Suffragan Bishop of New Jersey, will be the second ordination service for a woman priest in Trinity Church within a year.

The Rev. Daphne W.P. Hawkes was ordained there at the end of January, 1977, the first woman priest in the state of New Jersey after ordination of women to the priesthood was permitted by vote of the Episcopal General Convention.

Participating in the service will be all the clergy who were at Trinity Church during what Mrs. Kingston calls her "journey to the ministry," which began when she took courses at Princeton Seminary in the summer of 1974. The Rev. James Whittemore, former rector of Trinity Church until last January when he assumed the directorship of the Seaman's Church Institute in New York City, will read the Gospel. The Rev. R. Cotton Fite, now at St. Luke's in Evanston, Ill., will give the sermon, and the Rev. S. James Steen, currently at St. Luke's Church in New York City, will be the Chaplain to the Bishop.

The two lay presenters will be Father Cotton's wife Linda and Mrs. Kingston's husband Michael. The Rev. John Crocker, Jr., current rector of Trinity, and the Rev. E. Rugby Auer, director of Trinity Counseling Service, will be the two clergy presenters. Mrs. Hawkes will lead the litany.

Family Participation. Mrs. Kingston's sister, Lauren Lauck Bogue of Baltimore, will read the Epistle, and her three children, Tim, David and Courtney, and her niece, Jennifer Bogue, will participate as Crucifer and Oblation Bearers. The Rev. Roger W. Cramer, assistant rector of Trinity, will be master of ceremonies, and all the choirs will perform under the direction of Harold Pysher.

The high point in the service is the Consecration of the Priest when the Bishop lays his hands upon the head of the Ordinand and all the priests who are present also crowd around to place their hands on her head also. After a prayer in which the Bishop asks God to "make her a faithful pastor, a patient teacher and a wise counselor," the new priest is vested for the first time in the vestments of the Order of Priests.

A chasuble, the cloak-like garment worn by a priest for the celebration of the Eucharist, is placed over her head and a stole around her neck. These two vestments have been designed and made especially for Mrs. Kingston by two members of the parish, Julianna McIntyre and Carin Laughlin. A Bible is presented to her by the Bishop as a symbol of her authority as a priest "to preach the word of God and to administer his holy Sacraments."

Hospital Ministry. Following the service, a reception will be held in the parish house for Mrs.

Kingston, who has worshipped at Trinity since growing up in Princeton as the daughter of Annette C. Lauck of Lawrenceville Road and the late Peter Lauck. A religion major at Vassar College, she was married shortly after her graduation in 1963 and lived abroad for 10 years with her husband, who was in the international department of First National Citibank of New York City.

She graduated from Princeton Seminary with the class of 1977, having also studied at General Theological Seminary in New York City, and was ordained a deacon in June in Trinity Cathedral, Trenton. Drawn to a hospital ministry from her experiences in the Clinical Pastoral Education Program at the Seminary, Mrs. Kingston is currently doing advanced chaplaincy work at Princeton Medical Center on a full time basis and is a part-time staff member of Trinity Church.

ALONG TIME COMING

PHS Five Wins, 49-48. Starving for a win, the Princeton High School basketball team snatched victory away from visiting Hightstown Tuesday afternoon like a piece of red meat.

Less than 24 hours after PHS had gone down to its eighth defeat at the hands of Pennington Prep, it was staring at loss number nine. With six seconds left it was all up to sophomore Kevin Robinson.

Seconds earlier, Robinson had intercepted a long Ram pass and he was fouled by Hightstown's Johnny Hart, who ironically used to attend PHS. Shooting 1 - and - 1, Robinson sank the first to tie the game at 48. Ram coach Dick Tuliszewski called time out.

It didn't work. Robinson calmly flipped in his second attempt for his 21st point of the game. When freshman Suzanne Lengyel, Debbie Peter Sharpless intercepted Blair, Diane Aronovic, Hightstown's final bid to go ahead, the Little Tigers had their first Colonial Valley Conference win and second Greg Rossi.

Tigers Top Seton Hall

There was a distinct thaw in the air Tuesday night as Princeton's basketball team heated up sufficiently to run over Seton Hall at South Orange, 70 to 58. The victory brought the Tigers even with the .500 mark for the first time since late November.

It wasn't all easy, as an early 19-point lead (34-15) was pared to a dozen points at the half (36-24) and then to as few as six (52-46) with nine minutes left. But patience and discipline, the qualities that have so often bailed Princeton out, prevailed and with just over five minutes left, it had a 60-46 advantage.

Frank Sowinski led the scoring with 21 points, followed by Bob Roma with 18. Bob Kleinert and Bill Omeltchenko were also in double figures, and Tim Olah was the only substitute to whom Pete Carril sold a ticket.

overall in 10 starts.

"I thought we were never going to win one," said PHS coach Marv Trotman. "That's two days in a row we should have won easily. No question. We're 20 points better than this team."

After taking an early 10-2 lead, PHS led at the half by 19-16 and by 33-32 after three periods. It shot six for 12 in the first period but made only one field goal in a six - point second period.

Six quick points by Gene Lambert at the start of the final period gave the Rams a one - point lead and after Hart converted a three - point play with 2:49 to go, Hightstown owned a 46-41 lead. Baskets by Robinson and Bob Flippin kept PHS in contention in the hectic final minutes.

Two more free throws by Robinson, after Mike Fuschini had missed the front end of a 1 - and - 1, brought PHS to within one, 48-47, with 46 seconds to play. Ten of Robinson's 21 points came in the final period. Fuschini added 14, seven in the third period, while Flippin had eight.

160 IN ACTION

In Tennis Tourney Here. Nearly 160 participants from the east coast gathered in Princeton last week to compete in the first New Jersey Junior Tennis Championship held at the Indoor Tennis Center. It was sponsored by Prince Manufacturing of Princeton.

Beske, in her first attempt in the girls 14 division, advanced to the quarter-finals before being upset by unseeded Ingrid Hetz of Pa., 3-6, 6-4, 6-1. She was seeded fourth in her division.

Goodman, seeded no. 8 in the boys 16, was eliminated by unseeded Jeff Meiskin of Freehold in the second round, 6-2, 6-4. Kimball, his first year in the boys 16, lost in the second round to David Merritt, 6-4, 7-5.

Other Princeton area juniors participating were: Richard Diefenderfer, Scott Santin, Richard Klubeck, Greg Shepard, Scott Macleod, Jeff Levy, Jamie Hughes, Vicky Lucarella, Deborah Saffo, Jennifer Albert, Sue Bednor, Patty Dinella, the game. ### BULLETIN NOTES

The Rev. Dr. John R. Bodo, former pastor of the First (now Nassau) Presbyterian Church, will return to Princeton to lead a two-in-one seminar at Princeton Seminary's Center of Continuing Education Monday through Thursday, January 19.

"Can Christians Change the World?" - the second section - will explore the middle ground between headlong social activism and withdrawal from social responsibility.

Dr. Bodo, a native of Hungary, came to this country in 1947. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York, and his Ph.D. from Princeton Seminary. He has served a number of congregations in Fox & Lazo reveals House Trap #6.

Selling "as is"

Few houses are in perfect condition when they're put up for sale. But many could command a much higher price with a little ingenuity.
At Fox & Lazo, we'll suggest a paint job here. A repair there. And you'd be amazed at the difference in selling price.
Fox & Lazo — the largest Real Estate Broker in South
Jersey — is now serving the Princeton area.
We've been in business since 1886.

And we're going to break our backs to give you service. We put service to our clients ahead of the almighty dollar. That's how we keep you out of house traps.
(And that's how we sold almost 1,500 houses last year.)
For a free copy of our booklet on how to avoid 9 costly house traps, tear out the coupon below. Or better still, stop by our office at 54 Princeton Hightstown Road. Ask for Jack Burke or one of his sales associates. Or phone 799-2022.

SO CONVENIENT

The doorstep of this entrancing house is just minutes from the University and all the other attractions of Princeton, yet it lies on a cul-de-sac in a lovely Borough area. The interior is also convenient: an attractive entry leads to a study with pegged oak floors and a fireplace, and to a large living room with another fireplace. The super game room is by itself, though close to the front entry and the kitchen. 4 nice bedrooms (2 even have fireplaces!), and 3 baths, are upstairs.

$189,000

NOT EVEN LANDSCAPED YET!!

...but it's still most attractive! The beautifully wooded lot complements the smooth and comfortable lines of this Thompson Cape Cod. Excellent construction is typical throughout, but finishing touches are necessary. Choose the paint colors, tiles, flooring, and all, for the many beautiful and useful rooms: large entry, living room with a fireplace, formal dining room (with sliding doors to deck), gourmet's kitchen, breakfast room, laundry room, powder room, 4 bedrooms and 3 baths.

Rightist Views of Mark Jones, Once a Street-Car Conductor, Prove an Asset to Committee on Goals for Princeton Schools

It's just two months shy of 73 years ago - March 25, 1905 - education. That Mark Jones "first began to work for a living." The phrase is his own. He was 14 at the time, and he went to work for $30 a month as a street-car conductor in Waterloo, Iowa. He'd only gone part way through his second year in high school and that's all the institutional education he's ever had.

But as a critic of the institution of education, this proudly conservative man is as articulate as anyone in Princeton. To the astonishment of Princeton residents who had often heard him charge at school board meetings that a deliberate plan exists to subvert the American public school system so that capitalism is exchanged for socialism, Mr. Jones was named to the citizens committee on goals for Princeton schools.

Those on the goals committee, whose views were 180 degrees from those of Mr. Jones, were astonished to find themselves welcoming him as a hard-working, constructive member of the committee for whom, to their equal astonishment, they developed a sincere respect.

Capitalism "Outmoded." It was in Oakland, California, in 1933, he recalls, that he heard a member of the National Education Association "boast" that the NEA's goal would be to substitute socialism for capitalism. "The slickest idea," he says, "was to circulate the belief that there was nothing wrong with schools that money wouldn't cure. By now, that idea has changed the character of public and higher education." Today, relating the events and thoughts of his life from the pleasant, lived-in living-room of his 159 Library Place home, Mark Jones says of the start of his business career, "it just happened - things converged."

Because he did not long remain a street-car conductor. After only a year and a half on the street-car, he was promoted to the office as chief clerk to the general manager. Congress had just passed the Elkins Act, requiring freight carriers to publish rates and keep tariff files. Young Jones was told to start charge at school board meetings that a deliberate plan exists to subvert the American public school system so that capitalism is exchanged for socialism, Mr. Jones was named to the citizens committee on goals for Princeton schools.

Go East, Young Man. "I was one of five who worked behind the scenes to get bond issues passed for construction of schools, city auditorium, the western waterfront. We wanted to get industries to move their branches to Oakland, and we got GE's Mazda lamps, Chevrolet, Montgomery Ward. "But I decided opportunities for a young man were in direct proportion to the density of population. There were 380 people per square mile in New Jersey, 15 in California." So he came east.

Glancing one day at leather-bound volumes on a corporate executive's desk, he had discovered they were biographies -- so to speak -- of companies. Why not one on Mark Jones? he asked. And although he doesn't claim to have invented the resume, he did assemble a "little black book" on his work with traffic management and the promotion of Oakland and the like, and mailed it off to a blind ad in the New York Times.

It was Thomas A. Edison's ad. Would you, Edison asked of Mark Jones, organize our personnel system?

For 25 Cents an Hour. "Working people used to say working for Edison was like going to college: all you got was experience. The pay was 25 cents an hour. Well, I changed that to around 60 or 70 cents, and within two years, it became the most desirable place in New Jersey to work in."

He left Edison, re-writing his resume into a hundred-dollar leather binding and incorporating into it the interval when he created the Army's personnel unit at Camp Upton during World War I.

The hundred-dollar binding was handed to a personnel advisor of John D. Rockefeller Junior, and its grateful acceptance started Mark Jones on a long Rockefeller association.

What, the Rockefellers wanted to know, had happened to their philanthropies, estates, investments, during the World War I years?

Evaluating Securities. "I became a consultant. Should stock be sold? Should we change the chairman - the usual things a person must face who has a lot of holdings. I spent several years developing a program to expand the Boy Scouts. The Rockefeller Foundation asked me to do an economic survey of institutions for the care of the sick in greater New York: what are their assets? Are they deserving of support? This was the first disclosure of their financial situation, for many of them."

Economist for the 15 largest banks and insurance companies with railroad securities ... co-ordinator of the movement to repeal the undistributed profits tax "passed by the radicals in the late '30s" ... full-time consultant to the president of United States Steel, traveling week ends from Trenton to Pittsburgh in the company's private railroad car....

By this time, Mark and May Rinehart Jones had moved to Princeton. In 1931, they bought the 170 acres on Carter Road that became Woodvale Farm. For the next 36 years - "while I was racing around the country to earn enough to keep the home fires burning" -- Mrs. Jones raised thoroughbreds.

At one time, she had 60 hunters and jumpers ready for sale, and in 1945, her husband helped to form the Thoroughbred Breeders Association of New Jersey, serving as its treasurer for 32 years.

When the Joneses were still owners of Woodvale, Mark Jones joined with others to press the Legislature successfully for action on New Jersey's pari-mutuel act, which was followed by the opening of the state's first track -- the Garden State -- in the early 1940s.

Taxes Withheld. Washington, as well as Pittsburgh, New York and Carter Road, occupied Mr. Jones at that time, and he refers to himself as "the culprit who got income tax withholding enacted in 1943. We had a firm understanding that it would be repealed," he says, and smiles without comment.

He helped in drafting the Taft-Hartley Act, and served in Washington as staff director of a housing committee, "to cool the fever of socialists who wanted to plunge the country into an orgy of public housing."

He was with U.S. Steel until 1959, and one of his jobs for the company was to find out what the corporation got for the $125,000 a year it paid in state and local taxes.

"I found it went chiefly to education and I have specialized in education from the standpoint of the needs of the economy. We need a 'going-concern' economy. All government expenditures are non-productive overhead, but we never pay any attention to this. If such expenditures aren't held in proportion to the income of the people, you have an economy of liquidation. We must change education so that individuals are prepared to understand what the rules of the game are."

News Of The THEATRES

COMEDY NEXT

For McCarter. A star-studded cast, is the way they used to put it back in 1922, when "The Torch-Bearers" opened (it premiered in Asbury Park, by the way), and star-studded is still the word around McCarter, where "The Torch-Bearers" will open next Thursday, January 19. Curtain-time is 7:30 p.m.

In alphabetical order (no hurt feelings, now!) we have Peggy Cass, Tovah Feldshuh, Farley Granger and Dina Merrill. Peggy Cass won Tony and Theatre World Awards for her performance as Agnes Gooch in "Auntie Mame" and an Oscar nomination for repeating the part in the film version.

She'll play Mrs. J. Duro Pampinelli, self-proclaimed cultural torch-bearer, who leads a troupe of wealthy amateur actors through a hilariously misbegotten one-act play.

Tovah Feldshuh will be her latest ingenue and Farley Granger will be Tovah's rueful husband. Tovah most recently played Irina, with Rosemary Harris and Ellen Burstyn in the Brooklyn Academy of Music production of Chekhov's "Three Sisters." Granger has been in more than 30 films -- remember "Strangers on a Train?" -- and is well-known to movie-goers.

Dina Merrill will portray a scatter-brained socialite who thinks she might be the next Sarah Bernhardt. Dina's beauty and wit have brought her wide fame through stage, screen and television.

THARP, TWICE

Two Programs Planned. You'll have to buy tickets for both January 23 and January 24 if you want to see the Twyla Tharp dance company in its Princeton entirely because the troupe is presenting two different programs at McCarter.

On Monday, January 23, you can see "Country Dances," "The Fugue," and "Sue's Leg." The next evening -- both programs will start at 8:30 -- the dancers will offer "Simon Medley" (to the music of Paul Simon), "Cacklin' Hen," "Mud" and "Eight Jelly Rolls."

In the mid 1960s, when Twyla Tharp began making dances, she avoided music entirely using only a metronome. She worked in museums, art galleries and gymnasiums, avoiding also the traditional "theatre" space.

In recent years, however, she has performed her pieces on stage, setting them to Jelly

Roll Morton, Fats Waller, Scott Joplin and Box Biederbecke -- with a little Haydn, Corelli and Mozart tossed in.

Dance critics have remarked that her pieces are not so much "to" music as "about" music and the moods evoked by the pieces she selects.

KING: A FILMED RECORD

Documentary Here. In observance of the late Martin Luther King's birthday, McCarter will present a documentary, "King: A Filmed Record -- Montgomery to Memphis." It will be shown this Sunday at 7 and 9 in McCosh 10 on the University campus, and tickets may be obtained in the McCarter box-office.

The film, which the Philadelphia "Bulletin" called "perhaps the most important film documentary ever made," is a chronicle of the years from 1955 to 1966, depicting events as they actually occurred and were filmed for newsreel and television.

DRAG BALLET

"Tocks" Are Coming. The secret of success for the Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo, is that they know the art they are poking fun at.
Balletomanes can see for themselves when the Trocks
play McCarter on Tuesday,
February 7, at 8 p.m.

The group is first of all a dance company.
(Baryshnikov and Makarova are both fans, and Makarova helped coach Trock dancers in the company's own version of "Les Sylphides"). Critics point out that classic ballet is so riddled with artifice that it often seems on the verge of self-parody anyway, and the Trocks simply push it over the edge.

They parody both manners
and choreographic conventions, sparing neither Petipa nor Balanchine, Duncan nor Graham. And in passing, comment also on the traditionally played roles of male and female dancers.

The troupe's co-director, Peter Anastos, is also its principal choreographer and prima ballerina assoluta -- yes, ballerina. The group made its TV debut with Shirley MacLaine last March, and was founded four years ago.

Princetonian Writes Play.
His co-author now lives in Texas, but Marvin Cheiten lives right here in town, and this Friday, he will watch the unfolding of the play called "Queen Jane" which he and William Lord -- now teaching in Midland, Texas -- wrote together when they were attending graduate school at Princeton University.

"Queen Jane" is the winter
production for Princeton Community Players and it will be presented on the Players' 171 Broadmead stage this week-end and again January 20, 21 and 22, and 27 and 28.
Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8:30,
Sunday ones at 7:30. Reservations at 924-0971 or, after 5:30, 448-5643.

Cheiten and Lord have also written a play called "The Vault" which was performed at the Theatre Center in Philadelphia, and Mr. Cheiten alone, wrote a play called "Kiss Me Kate" which will be given by the same group in March. If you've attended Inn
Cabaret at the Nassau Inn, you've heard some of his sketches and songs.

"Queen Jane" is about the young queen who ruled England for nine days, having been brought to power by the Duke of Northumberland.
Jane Beard is the young queen, Robert Watson is the Duke. Spencer Gates will be the Earl of Arundel. All three have had wide experience in regional theatre.

Bob Orlikoff, a Rutgers student, will play "the fool," a far remove from his role as a dancing - singing gangster in "Kiss Me Kate," and as John
Proctor in "The Crucible."

Herbert McAneny, who has played in at least three dozen plays since his 1933 appearance in "Cock Robin," the Player's very first production, will portray
Thomas Cranmer in "Queen
Jane."

Jon Tenney, who has acted

Auditions Scheduled

Princeton Community
Players will hold auditions for its next play, "Boys in the Band," on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:30 in the PCP theatre, 171 Broadmead. For information call 924-0971, or after 5:30, 448-5643.

Community Players has also planned an acting workshop which will be given by Stan Janusz for six sessions beginning January 25. To register, call 737-3898 by January 20.

of Jane's husband in a marriage which turns out to be considerably more than the political marriage it was intended to be.

Churchill Clark, the director, also has in his cast
Peter Dolotta, Jack Gwin,
Anne Bredon, David Dessel,
Pierre Mali, V. John Mochel,
Phil O'Donoghue, Bernie Shanfield, Mike Orlikoff and children which will be free to students who participate.

Classes, to start next Monday, will be held once a week after school in Princeton Community Village, which has donated space. Students will be drawn from the Princeton area, primarily through programs for "income eligible" children.

Creative Theatre has divided the classes into four sections based on age. Section One, for second and third grades and Section Two for fourth and fifth grades, will be "Idea Workshops," in which children will do creative drama and learn about movement and sensory awareness.

In the third and fourth sections, for grades six to eight, and nine through 12, students will participate in acting workshops, exploring different styles of performing.

Registration will be from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Wednesdays from 5 to 8 p.m. at 921-1686. Enrollment is limited to 15 children per class.

In announcing the Youth Fund grant, the Rev. David McAlpin of the board of directors said:

"Creative Theatre represents almost the ideal organization to which the Youth Fund makes grants. Over the years, the Fund has helped support Creative Theatre, which we have seen develop from a fledgling group to a largely self-sustaining entity. We are delighted with their progress."

FROM M.I.T. TO SHAKESPEARE: It's "Love's Labor's Lost," with a masked cast from the M.I.T. Shakespeare Ensemble. The students will travel to Princeton for a presentation of the rarely-offered Shakespeare play on Friday, January 20, at 8 in Murray Theatre.

"We have always seen a need to reach children who cannot afford our program," says executive director Ruth Wellman, "and we are very grateful for Youth Fund support in helping us to fill this need. Creative drama is such a valuable and exciting way for children to learn to express themselves and it helps them both socially and in their school work."

SHAKESPEARE!
From M.I.T. How many times have you seen "Love's Labor's Lost" and do you get lost in all the apostrophes? Shakespeare's comedy will be performed next Friday, January 20, at 8 p.m. in Murray Theatre, under the banner of Theatre Intime, and you can add it to your life list of Shakespeare.

Actors will be members of the MIT Shakespeare Ensemble, a group of students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who perform Shakespeare under a professional director. The players have performed at Exeter, Yale, Stratford (Connecticut) and in many colleges and high schools in the Boston area.

A year ago, its production of "Taming of the Shrew" was presented in five states and six cities between Washington and Boston, and "Love's Labor's Lost" will travel approximately the same route.

The MIT Shakespeare Ensemble has a reputation for

TO PERFORM ORATORIO

At All Saints' Church. The
All Saints' Choir will present parts I, II, and III of J.S.
Bach's Christmas Oratorio on Saturday evening, January 21, at 8 in All Saints' Church. This concert, the second of the 1977-
78 Trinity-All Saints' Concerts, was originally scheduled for December 11.

The Christmas Oratorio consists of six complete cantatas, each of which was originally intended to be performed on one of the 12
days of Christmas, December 25-January 6. The Oratorio is as much a part of the holiday season as is Handel's Messiah, and contains many of the best-known choruses and instrumental pieces in all of Bach's work.

Soloists for the concert will include Sharon Alexander, soprano; Frauke Haasemann, alto; Lois Laverty, alto; John McLain, tenor; and John Woodard, bass. The orchestra will consist of students from the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts and members of the Spoleto Festival Orchestra.

The concert will be under the direction of David Agler, who has been Director of Music at All Saints' Church for the past seven years. Mr.
Agler, who is on the staff of the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts, has recently returned from New York, where he conducted Verdi's
Aida in Syracuse and Buffalo.
Later in the spring he will be in California for a conducting engagement with the San Francisco Opera.

Tickets are $3 ($2 for students), are on sale at Hinkson's and will be at the door.

ART In Princeton

ART FROM CHINA

Watercolors at Squibb. Watercolors by Chinese artist Kuilang Chung-Ying will be featured at Squibb Gallery through February 12.

A resident of San Francisco since 1973, Mr. Kuilang was born in Hunan Province, China, in 1926. From age 13, he studied with outstanding teachers, and at 23 became a leading student of Chang Tachien, a noted landscape and portrait painter who is one of the foremost artists of China today.

Chinese painting consists basically of lines, which can be as rigid as steel wire or as flexible as silk thread. The blending of lines of different tones form the shape, substance, movement and spirit of a Chinese artist's work.

Stress is placed on a central theme and everything irrelevant is omitted. Not only must the likeness of the subject be presented, but also its meaning developed. Above all, a Chinese painting is expected to be rich in feeling.

Mr. Kuilang is noted for his ability to combine boldness with delicacy, and his brush work offers a freshness and brilliance alive with expressive power. Mr. Kuilang's subjects cover the range of beauty found in nature, from Mt. Fuji to the smallest flower.

Squibb Gallery is in the World Headquarters of E.R. Squibb & Sons, international pharmaceutical company, on Route 206 three miles south of Princeton. Gallery hours are 9 to 4:30 Monday through Friday, until 9 on Thursday, and 1-5 on Sunday. The gallery is closed on Saturday.

CURRENT EXHIBITS

Assemblages and wall-pieces by Leo Sewell will be shown in the Anne Reid Art Gallery at Princeton Day School from Sunday, January 22, through Friday, February 11.

Mr. Sewell is a Philadelphia based artist who uses found objects in his assemblages. Other people's discarded objects, toys, junk, and used furniture, are transformed into a myriad of other objects by his experienced hands. The result of the transformation is life sized figures of people, cats, dogs, babies—even a life-sized horse—as well as clocks, lamps, furniture, all composed of bits and pieces of broken and discarded objects that have been a part of all of our lives.

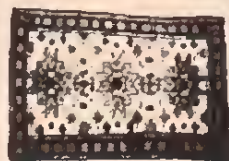

Mr. Sewell's work has been shown extensively both here and abroad. He was selected by the United States Information Agency in 1974 to travel through Romania, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia, as a demonstrator-lecturer with his work and teaching the use of the found object in art in a special show "Progress in Environment."

The Anne Reid Art Gallery at Princeton Day School is open to the public Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's a Super Bowl oddity ... The man who holds the honor of scoring the very first touchdown in Super Bowl history -- Max McGee -- was not even supposed to play in that first Super Bowl game, in 1967 ... But another player's injury put McGee into the game and he immediately caught a 37-yard pass from Bart Starr for his historic touchdown ... Not only that but McGee caught only 2 passes all during the regular season, but he caught 7 passes in that one Super Bowl game.

A little noticed -- but interesting -- achievement was set in the 1977 football season by Miami of Ohio when they came from behind to win 8 different games ... Although no official records are kept on this, it's possible that Miami set an all-time record by winning the most football games in history, in one season, by coming from behind.

Here's a tough Super Bowl question ... When was the only time in Super Bowl history that the Most Valuable Player Award for the game went to a player on the LOSING team? ... answer is Super Bowl V, in 1971, when linebacker Chuck Hawley of Dallas was voted the Most Valuable Player in the game even though his team lost to Baltimore, 16-13.

I bet you didn't know ... that you have until February 15 for your $1500 IRA tax deduction. Contact us.

Princeton Basketball Team in Deep Trouble In Ivy Race as First Half of Season Ends

Will Princeton's basketball season, to all intents and purposes, come to an end as early as the afternoon of Saturday, January 28? If the Tigers lose again to Pennsylvania in the Palestra that day, their chances of winning the Ivy title for a third straight year would be virtually nonexistent.

Because of their early-season problems, even a solid second-place finish in the race would in all likelihood not be strong enough to earn them a bid to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden. Not since their opening game victory over Colgate have they been above the .500 mark and if they are somehow included in the NIT field, it would be largely on their attractiveness at the gate and on the strength of their astonishing upset in winning the event three years ago.

In contrast to Pennsylvania teams earlier in the decade, when the Quakers ripped off five straight Ivy championships the current edition is not all that solid. It outplayed Princeton by a wide margin last week in their first meeting, but the Tigers were guilty of so many errors that they contributed largely to the 78-63 defeat.

Three nights later, Penn had its hands full in subduing Harvard, 86-81, and the Crimson, now 3-9 on the year, was playing without its 6-9 center, Brian Banks. Averaging 18 points a game, he had stayed in Cambridge to study ("Where else but at Harvard," asked first-year coach John McLaughlin, "could that happen?").

Banks will rejoin the team later this month, and Penn could have a king-size problem in repeating its victory when the teams meet again on Saturday, February 18. The Quakers will be completing a long three-day road trip after having gone first to Hanover. Princeton's problem, of course, is that it must not only draw even with Penn by winning at Philadelphia but take the rest of its league games or be confronted with a third contest against the Quakers in a playoff.

Two in a Row Help. For the first time this season, the Tigers last week won back-to-back games when they rolled easily past Dartmouth (60-47) and Harvard (83-64) in Jadwin Gym. Dartmouth is visibly the poorer of the two--it has yet to win in eight starts--but Pete Carril's inconsistent Princetonians played a far better game Saturday than they had 24 hours earlier.

The man who turned the Tigers around against the Green, after they had trailed, 9-4, in the early going, was 6-11 Tom Young, who almost never sees action unless Bob Roma is in trouble. Roma was--he drew four fouls in less than 12 minutes and had managed just four points.

In the next 25 minutes, Young contributed 16 points on 6-for-9 shooting and 4-for-4 at the line, blocking three shots and contributing a steal on defense. When he left, it was 51-37, Princeton, and the crowd booed his removal.

The Tigers took a 29-19 lead by the intermission and led thereafter by at least that margin but were often struggling to play well. Frank Sawinski tapped all scorers with 17 but had to take 15 shots to make six. Bill Omeltchenko joined him and Young in double figures with 12.

No Contest. The Harvard game was a rarity in that the outcome was literally never in doubt six minutes after the game began. It took the Crimson, short on depth and tired from going all-out against Penn, almost that long to get its first points, and from a 12-2 lead at 5:27, Princeton ran out to 23-8 with the first half just half gone. A short bank shot at the buzzer by Roma made it 42-25, and the lead not long after play resumed mounted as high as 30 points.

Young got a chance again Saturday, the crowd giving him a welcoming hand as soon as he approached the scorer's table to report. A 6-11 guy who hustles can be picturesque--his 4-for-5 effort plus a foul shot gave him 9 points in the 12 minutes he was allotted. Four blocked shots each drew a roar of approval.

For the first time since they beat Rutgers on December 17, the Tigers played some top-flight basketball, dominating Harvard on defense and hitting with extreme accuracy from the floor. Their field goal average was a fine 64 percent, running as high as 76 percent in the final 20 minutes on a 16-for-21 performance.

Every starter but guard Rich Rizzuto was in double figures: Bob Kleinert, 16; Sawinski and Roma, 15 each, and Oma for the second night with 14. The victors also recorded a rare double for them when they outrebounded the opposition two nights in a row by a total margin of 51 to 42.

The term-end break for examinations is now in effect, and Princeton will not play again until Saturday, January 21, when Hofstra comes to Jadwin. It is the final non-league game on the schedule.

The Long Island quintet is in a rebuilding year after heavy graduation losses, and the game should give the Tigers an opportunity to launch a drive that will carry them well beyond the .500 mark. Success of the season will, however, hinge largely on what they can do to redeem themselves the following week in Philadelphia.

—Donald C. Stuart

STAFF TAKES SHAPE

Four to Remain in Football. Of the seven assistant football coaches who worked last fall with Bob Casciola, four will continue on the Princeton staff being assembled by his successor, Frank Navarro.

Warren Harris, who first came to Princeton 16 years ago under Dick Colman, will continue as a defensive specialist, working with the linebackers and ends. Joe Pascale, who arrived here a year ago, will concentrate on the defensive secondary.

Len Rivers, who worked with the receivers under Casciola, will remain here under Navarro in a capacity yet to be determined. He is also the Tigers' baseball coach. Artie Williams, who has been the freshman coach since 1972, is the fourth holdover and may also have a new assignment under Navarro.

Three other coaches did not apply for new contracts. They are John Petercuskie, defensive coordinator; Gary Fallon, offensive coordinator; and Tom Olivadotti, offensive line coach. There are two positions to be filled -- Navarro has already announced that he will bring Ken Bowman, once an assistant to Jake McCandless, back to Princeton as offensive coordinator. Bowman has

Princeton Hockey Fans Remain Faithful Despite Losing Years As Capacity Crowd Watches Near Upset of B.U., Tops in East

Among the numerous problems Princeton's new hockey coach, Jim Higgins, has encountered in his first season here is the lack of publicity accorded the sport. It is often impossible to find a story about the Tigers' games in any daily newspaper, and neither Princeton radio station provides them the play-by-play coverage which both football and basketball receive.

So uninterested in college hockey are the two Trenton dailies that even the line scores are often missing. While the New York Times, which likes to think of itself as the paper of record on everything from total annual snowfall at the North Pole to the amount of tea consumed in China, can go an entire season without a single story on an Ivy League hockey game. All this is totally contrary to Higgins' past experience with the media, from his undergraduate days at Boston University to coaching assignments at Hanover, N.H., Providence, R.I., and the central New York State area, where Colgate was one of a number of colleges well recognized in the sport.

In Princeton, N.J., however, a sizeable -- and long-suffering -- segment of hockey enthusiasm exists, largely nourished by daily headlines and nightly radio sports talks. It survives one long season after another, somehow swallowing the despair of 6-15, 3-21 and even 1-22 records, because there are enough fans who feel that the sport has abundant appeal and near- ceaseless action. Saturday night, a Princeton team that had a 2-6-2 record drew a capacity crowd of 2,200 of them to Baker Rink.

For Higgins, it was very nearly a major highlight of his brief career in the college ranks. Playing without their regular goalie, and using as his replacement a senior who was in the nets for only the third time at Princeton, the Tigers very nearly defeated Boston University, the no. 1 team in the East and second-ranked nationally. Adding a touch of drama to the occasion was the fact that B.U. is Higgins' alma mater -- he graduated there 15 years ago.

Ready When Needed. Wearing the goaltender's gear at Princeton was Dave Ramsay, who somehow stayed on the squad during his sophomore and junior years despite the fact that either Robin Rollefstad, Mike O'Leary or Fred Cherne did all the playing. Rollefstad's career ended in 1976, O'Leary graduated last June, and this season, Cherne had played every minute of the Tigers' first eight games.

Last week, Cherne withdrew from action, at least temporarily, because of concern over his wife's illness. Ramsay, then took over the goalie job for two games in Portland, Me., was in the nets against Boston University, which last March won the ECAC Tournament and compiled a 22-11-1 mark that included a 7-1 drubbing of Princeton.

Ramsay was credited with 35 saves -- had he kicked out one more, the Orange and Black would have had a sudden-death shot at the Terriers instead of losing, 4 to 3. Said one admiring Tiger fan, "In the last period, Ramsay looked like Jacques Plante."

To the delight of the roaring crowd, the Tigers overcame an early B.U. lead on first-period goals by Henry Lane and Barry Wihak. They held that margin almost until the end of the middle round, but Boston University beat Ramsay twice in the final minute to regain the advantage at 3-2. Trevor Kilburn created the game's third deadlock at 4:08 of the final period, but B.U. produced its fourth goal at 6:54 to end the scoring.

The Tigers have now played their one home game for January (after having been in action here just once in November and once last month.) They will be seen next in Baker Rink on February 2 against Colgate, the first of nine home appearances that month in the unbalanced schedule. The faithful Rink Rats are quite likely to see that a number of them are again played to SRO attendance.

Tigers Split in Portland. Ramsay got his first taste of what it's like to play goalie in college hockey in the Down East Classic at Portland. He allowed nine goals in the two games but the Tigers came away with an even break when they outscored Maine, 7 to 4, after losing to Bowdoin, 5-4.

Against Bowdoin, now unbeaten in seven games, the Orange and Black came from behind to tie at 3-all in the middle period and then took a 4-3 lead on a goal by John van Siclen with less than a minute gone in the final round. Two more shots that got by Ramsay then brought the Tigers' sixth loss of the season. Bill Tresham was credited with a pair of unassisted goals toward the losers' total.

long, desperate one-hander by junior Pete Tucci gave Pennington Prep a 71-69 overtime victory over visiting Princeton High School Monday evening, a game that PHS twice seemed to have in hand.

"An experienced team would have won that ball game hands down," said PHS coach Marv Trotman afterwards. "We just weren't able to hold the ball with a lead. Stupid. There's no other word for it."

The game marked the debut

Thursday's game against Maine pitted Coach Jim Higgins against his predecessor, Jack Semler, who is fielding an all-freshman squad in his team's first year in the sport. The Tigers were no better than 4-4 going into the final 20 minutes, but won when they produced three unanswered goals.

Craig Tresham and van Siclen had two apiece, the others going to Kilborn, Dave Kelley and Jim Farrell. The victors outshot their opposition, 46 to 25.

The Tigers will be idle for nearly three weeks now for the second time this season as they break for term-end exams. Three road games in four days are on the schedule for late January.

of Kelly Robinson, twin brother of Kevin Robinson, who was high scorer for the Little Tigers with 18. Kelly, who has been sidelined with a cast for a knee injury, finished with seven points. "It was his first game and he couldn't go 100 percent," commented Trotman, who added he was certain Kelly would continue to improve in succeeding games.

Mired with a 1-8 record after that defeat, PHS will have three chances next week to improve its win column. Friday at 3:45, it will host Hopewell Valley in a Colonial Valley league game. Then on Monday in a game added to the schedule, it will oppose New Brunswick at 6 at Rutgers new Athletic Center prior to a New Jersey Nets professional game.

Tuesday evening at 8 in another CVC game, it will be at West Windsor - Plainsboro High School.

PHS Leads By Nine. Against the Red Raiders, the Little Tigers pulled to a nine-point, 56-47 lead following four consecutive foul shots by Kevin Robinson early in the final period. "I thought we had them then," confirmed Trotman.

But the home team reeled off 10 points in a row to go up by one, getting three points each from its two leading scorers, Fred Falchi and Randy Rudolph. Then it was Princeton's turn.

Kevin Robinson scored on a layup, converted both ends of a 1-and-1 and Kelly added two for a quick six points and PHS had a 62-57 lead with 30 seconds to go.

However, with eight seconds showing on the clock Falchi hit on a long bomb to bring Pennington to within two, 63-61. Here a dispute arose over the clock operated by a Pennington student and it was turned back to 11 seconds.

Mike Fuschini's long down court pass to Kelly Robinson was intercepted by Pennington. Falchi scored on a driving layup to tie the game and was fouled by Bob Flippin. Again, there was another dispute over the time remaining and the clock was turned back two seconds to show four.

The problem with the clock irritated Trotman and his assistant, Ed Reacham, both of whom pointed out that in public school basketball, a member of the school faculty is required to operate the clock. "I can see it happening once, but twice in a row!" fumed Trotman.

Missed Foul Shots Costly. Falchi, however, missed the free throw and the game went into overtime. During the three-minute OT, PHS missed four crucial foul shots. One converted by Flippin and a basket by Kevin Robinson gave PHS a three point edge. Robinson was fouled on his basket and he missed the free throw but Fuschini grabbed the vital rebound.

Suddenly, he collapsed to the floor with a muscle pull and Randolph picked up the loose ball, scored and was fouled for a three-point play and a 66-66 tie. Flippin's two free throws made it 68-66, as he scored four of Princeton's six points in the overtime.

Randolph responded with another three-point play. As the clock ran down, Pennington was called for a blocking foul on a Flippin drive to the basket with 8 seconds left. Flippin converted the first of the 1-and-1 to tie it but missed the second shot.

When Tucci's off balance shot swished through the net, the highly vocal Pennington crowd erupted.

"I'll tell you one thing," said Trotman later. "Those were the worst fans I've ever seen. Unruly. The racial remarks were unbelievable. And I went to this school for a year."

Robinson (18), Flippin (15), Fuschini (12), and Don Johnson (10) all reached double figures for PHS. Fuschini, one of the leading scorers in the county, failed to score in the final period or during the overtime.

Falchi led all scorers with 27 while Randolph had 22 for Bill Long's Red Raiders. The win was number four for Pennington, which has lost five.

THIS MONTH WILL TELL

For PDS Quintet. By the end of January, the Princeton Day basketball team will know where it stands - if it's still standing.

Presently at 4-5, the Panthers are hoping to be able to play a more solid brand of basketball against the tough opponents that lie ahead.

Next on the schedule is Hun away this Wednesday, followed by Hamilton away, the Rider JV's at home and on Jan. 21, Trenton High in Jadwin Gym. The month will end with games against St. Anthony, Lawrenceville and Pennington.

"If we can come out of January with a .500 record or one game better, we could win the rest of our games, and be set for the 'B' division tournament," coach Alan Taback commented. Taback has purposely put together a tough schedule for his team, but believes they can weather the test.

Hun is a key game for the Blue and White. Star center Ron Payton has given the Red and Black a fine 7-1 mark to date, and PDS would love to pin a second loss on its cross-town rival.

This past week, the Panthers continued their early season pattern of beating the easy team (Wardlaw) and losing to the tough one (Hill). "They were the best team we have played so far," said Taback, in reference to Hill. "They did everything well in a very mature and disciplined style."

Princeton Day stayed with the winners into the latter part of the second period, when it led 18-17, but the final few minutes of the first half proved to be PDS's undoing. During that stretch, the home team ran off 10 straight points, while PDS missed two or three good openings, plus three one-and-one situations. Hill led 27-18 at the intermission and never looked back.

The lead got as high as 20 in the third quarter, before the Blue and White cut it to 12. The margin was 17 at the end, 63-46.

Last Wednesday, the Panthers went up against Wardlaw, which came into the game with a 6-1 record, having lost only to Newark Academy.

Since PDS destroyed Newark 64-29 in its first game, the result in this match-up was predictable.

The visitors were limited to 16 points in the first half, while PDS rolled up 44, only four less than Wardlaw scored all game. The final was 88-48. Mike Walters had 19 points, Carl Hill 18; and Jim Cox 15.

That win made Taback feel fairly positive about the whole week, including the loss to Hill. "Overall we took some good steps forward," he observed. There's plenty of room for more over the next two weeks.

PDS SEXTET LOSES TWO

To Brick and Hill. The start of the new year was a particularly rough one for the Princeton Day hockey team. In two games last week, the Panthers were shutout twice, losing to Brick 10-0 and Hill School, 6-0.

That put a dent in the Blue and White's fine record, dropping it to 5-3. This week, against hopefully somewhat easier competition, PDS will seek to get back on the winning side of the ledger. Wissahickon will be the opposition on Wednesday and Avon Old Farms, Friday evening at 7. Both are home games.

However on Saturday, it's Brick, again, this time away. If the Panthers can win the first two encounters, they may be able to enter the Brick game in a better frame of mind than they did last Wednesday.

"We were uniformly bad," was the way coach Harry Rulon-Miller characterized his team's effort against Brick. "Our physical condition was not at all good, we did not hustle, did not play well together and were not aggressive." There's little left to say after that assessment.

Brick had a powerful first line, which produced six of the team's 10 goals, three in the first period, two more in the second and five in the third. It outshot PDS by almost a 2-1 margin, 27-15.

Saturday evening against Hill found the PDS players eager to atone for Wednesday's disaster, probably too eager as things turned out.

The Peugeot 604 SL gives you comfort and roadability the Cadillac Seville can't deliver.

To experience the superior riding comfort and roadability of the Peugeot 604, you have to drive it yourself. When you do, you'll discover a level of satisfaction the Cadillac Seville can't provide.

Smoother ride

Unlike Seville, the Peugeot 604 has McPherson struts for extra-long vertical wheel travel. And oversized shock absorbers designed and patented by Peugeot.

Better handling

Four-wheel independent suspension and weight distribution that's nearly perfect give the 604 better road holding characteristics than the Seville.

Tighter cornering

The 604's turning circle is 4½ feet smaller in diameter than Seville's.

Better braking

In 70 to 0 tests, the Peugeot 604 stopped short of Seville by over ten feet.*

More precise steering

Unlike the Seville, the Peugeot 604 has power-assisted rack and pinion steering, so you can park with ease without losing the feel of the road at highway speeds.

Lower price

The Seville starts at around $13,350. A comparably equipped Peugeot 604 SL lists for about $1,600 less.†

Naturally both cars give you comfortable interiors. But for a much lower price, the Peugeot 604 gives you the total driving comfort only a true European grand touring sedan can deliver.

"We were so intense about doing well, that I think our teamwork suffered," Rulon-Miller commented.

Always a well organized team, Hill seemed to dominate the ice in the first two periods, according to Rulon-Miller, but only managed one goal in the opening frame. It added two more in the second and three more in the third. Rulon-Miller credited goalie Jeff Johnson with playing a fine game, particularly in stopping repeated shots at the goal. Once again PDS was outshot, 32-20.

"I've said before that we will win or lose as a team, not because of one or two individuals," Rulon-Miller observed. "We know what we have to do, it just gets down to when we're going to get it all together."

HUN WINS AGAIN

Opposes PDS Wednesday. Off to one of its best starts in years, the Hun School basketball team, which won its eighth in nine games last week with a 52-46 victory over Newark Academy, will face rival Princeton Day School this Wednesday.

The game will be played at 3:30 at the Hun gymnasium.

While agreeing his team was off to a good start, Hun coach Dave Leete added: "We've got a lot of tough ones to go; we've got to play better than we did last week."

One of those tough ones, says Leete, will be Princeton Day. Although the records of each would suggest a Hun victory--PDS is struggling and has a 4-5 record--Leete reported that he has seen the Panthers play a couple of times and "they have a good ball club. Their record isn't as good as last year's but they have been playing tough competition."

Besides, Leete continued, "it is always a good game no matter what the record of each school." Hun defeated PDS last year.

In its only start last week, Hun was not overpowering. Leete attributed the low score in the Newark Academy win to poor shooting on both sides rather than any spirited defensive play. "We had a lot of opportunities but we didn't convert," he said.

Ron Payton, as usual, led Hun with 22 points. Team-mates Bob Innocenzi and Pete Black combined for 21 more.

FIRST CVC TEST

For Undeclared PHS Matmen. The Princeton High School wrestling team, undefeated in four dual meets and winner of the Notre Dame Christmas Tournament, will face its first Colonial Valley Conference foe this Wednesday evening at 8.

The match will be held in the PHS gym.

The Little Tigers received their closest scare of the season last week in topping Ewing, 31-28, but coach Tom Murray said that he wasn't surprised about the score. "In fact, it went pretty much the way I thought it would."

PHS was not at full strength for the meet. Bob Schmidt, the regular 135-pounder, a transfer student from Illinois, was spending the Christmas vacation in that state, and Bob Ayling lost a 3-0 decision in that class. Gary Carnevale was sidelined with the flu and his replacement, sophomore Luciano Procaccini, lost a 4-0 decision in the 158-pound division.

Murray also reported that John Tazelaar, his 115-pounder, suffered a torn rib cage in the Notre Dame Tournament, was not fully recovered but gave it a try anyway. He was pinned in 1:45. Since then, Murray said his team has had some good practice sessions. "We'll get back in the groove again."

Three unbeaten PHS

wrestlers kept their records unsullied. Captain Dave Wilson pinned Frank Novembre in 3:12 at 141 pounds; Matt Wilkinson, 108-pounder, decisioned Milt Robinson, 4-0, and Keith Wadsworth, 170 pounds, pinned Tim Corson with six seconds left in his match.

Karem El-Meligi, following Wadsworth in the 188-lb. class, pinned Ewing's Ralph Obermeier with 12 seconds to go in the final period. Bruce Cobb, 101 pounds, won by forfeit. Eric Tazelaar won a 3-0 decision at 122 pounds over Victor DiMartino, one of Ewing's team captains.

Ewing made it close when heavyweight Ron Dunn pinned Geoff Shipman in 5:26. Another of the Blue Devils' standouts, Chuck Sackett blanked Joel Schulman, 3-0, at 129 pounds, and Rich Herbeck pinned Princeton's 148-pounder, Dan Miller.

Following the Hightstown match will be the big test with West Windsor. But Murray isn't looking ahead. "We take them one at a time," he said.

WW MATMEN SPLIT

For 4-2 Record. "We had a very good week; I'm pleased."

Such was the reaction of West Windsor wrestling coach Ken Bernabe after his team last week dropped a 28-12 decision to powerful Jackson Township Saturday and had routed Notre Dame, 41-9, in a Colonial Valley Conference meet.

Currently 4-2, the Pirates will oppose Peddie Saturday at 2 in Hightstown, a team they defeated last year, 40-18. "I expect a good match," said Bernabe. "The key is we are not looking ahead to the following Wednesday with Princeton High."

WW lost the first seven matches to Jackson, including a first lost by John Houtenville to Ed Picard, a 7-6 decision in the 129-pound class, before Darren Rash won at 148 pounds. Rash scored three points near the end of his match to win a 7-5 decision.

In the following match, 158-pound Ralph Barletta dominated his opponent, Paul Barletta (no relation) to win an 8-2 decision and in the final bout, WW received a nice surprise and half its points when junior Tim Gunkel scored a pin in 3:23.

Houtenville's first loss after eight victories this season, Bernabe admitted, was a disappointment. Houtenville went down when he allowed Picard to ride him the entire third period. Mark Edenfield and his opponent were tied 2-2 in their 115-pound match until Edenfield surrendered two points with seven seconds to go. Jackson's Lou Durant, who has qualified for the state competition every year since he was a freshman, handled WW standout Guy Belloch easily, 10-0.

A German Blitzkrieg. After Notre Dame ace Chris Cantwell carved out an 8-1 decision over Brian Fahey, West Windsor's 108-pounder, "it was a German blitzkrieg," commented Bernabe. The Irish's only other win came nine matches later when Tom Maurer pinned Mike Soler in 2:62.

Scoring pins for West Windsor were Wally McIntyre, 101 pounds, in 5:40; Houtenville in 4:17; and Jerry Gillette, 141 pounds, in 3:09. Belloch surprised Notre Dame's Frank Dennehy, the
